REVERE CITY FATHERS HELD ON GRAFT CHARGE

Five Members Indicted by Grand Jury on Charge of Receiving Gratuities for Licenses

BOSTON, Aug. 7.—Five members of the city council of Revere, B. Sias, J. L. Dalzell, R. J. Sullivan, W. W. Gordon and Jacob Mendoza, were indicted today by the grand jury on a charge of receiving gratuities for granting licenses to junk dealers. All pleaded not guilty. Jacob Romberg entered a similar plea to an indictment alleging the giving of the gratuities. According to the indictments the amount paid by three junkmen was $200.

GO-BETWEEN "SQUEEZED"
BOSTON, Aug. 7.—Admissions by the go-between and one member of the council are alleged to have shown that five of the nine members of the city council of Revere are involved in the junk-license graft which Assistant District Attorney Thomas D. Lavelle has been investigating the past week. The go-between and one member of the council yesterday told all they knew, and will be used as witnesses for the government at the trial of the others.

The grand jury took up the graft case yesterday afternoon and heard a number of witnesses, including the two men who have confessed.

FLOOD VICTIMS BURIED

Funerals at Erie, Pa. Today—Inquest to Begin Monday—Dynamite Used in Wreckage

ERIE, Pa., Aug. 7.—Eleven victims of Tuesday night's flood were to be buried today. The inquest is to begin Monday. Engineers were at work preparing data for presentation to the war department at Washington with a view to federal regulations that would prevent further filling in of the mill creek channel and thus tend to avert a repetition of the disaster.

The forces working in the wreckage were further increased today and hundreds of wagons were pressed into service. Dynamite was brought into use and such piles of debris as did not yield readily were blown to pieces. No bodies were uncovered early in the day.

Mayor Stern has asked the railroads to discontinue excursions scheduled for Erie tomorrow. He pointed out that the city was still much disturbed and would be unable to care for the many thousands of sightseers it was reported would come from Pittsburgh, Cleveland and Buffalo.

RUSSIAN FORCES FLEE TO ESCAPE GERMAN PINGERS

Kaiser's Troops Invade Russian Territory for an Average Depth of 100 Miles Along Front From Baltic to Bukowina — Defenders Surrender Vistula—London Paper Hints Sweden May Join Teutons—Greece Holding Out Against Allies

LONDON, Aug. 7, 12.05 p. m.—Holding the bridge heads at Warsaw over the Vistula river, the most formidable military obstacle in eastern Europe, Germany and Austria-Hungary have conquered the river line and with it invaded Russian territory for an average depth of 100 miles along a front from the Baltic to Bukowina, are now throwing their forces forward in an endeavor to accomplish what Russia's allies have so feared—the complete envelopment of the Russian armies.

The British press, basing its opinions on Petrograd despatches and the lack of reports to the contrary from either Berlin or Vienna, is inclined to the view that the forces of Grand Duke Nicholas retired from Warsaw virtually intact; but there is an increasing disposition not to minimize the seriousness of the situation as it still exists and the anxiety of the quadruple powers seems to be manifested in renewed pressure to bring the Balkan states in line on the side of the entente powers.

Sweden May Enter War

Quiescent Sweden is now restless and even so conservative a newspaper as the London Morning Post finds cause for comment in Sweden's growing hostility to Russia as stimulated by German success in Poland.

Greece Refuses to Cede Territory

Whether the present Balkan negotiations will be more fruitful from the entente standpoint than previous attempts to align these states against Germany and Turkey is debatable, especially so as Greece, according to an Athens despatch quoting Premier Gourneris refuses to consider the relinquishing of any territory to Bulgaria, a concession which might clear the situation.

Russia Holds Novo Georgievsk

Though still holding Novo Georgievsk the whole Russian garrison remains at bay. Thus the Russian armies not only are menaced back of the Warsaw salient from which it was assumed they were not entirely clear before heavy German forces broke across the Vistula to the southeast of Warsaw; but a larger and more formidable enveloping movement has taken definite form, being in effect a greater pair of pincers aiming at Dvinsk in the north and at Brest-Litovsk in the south and superimposed on a smaller pair which sought and still seeks to crush the Russian forces in and around Warsaw.

There is the chance that the grip of the smaller pair may not be effective, and it will take some time to demonstrate whether the more ambitious movement succeeds.

SUMMARY OF TODAY'S WAR NEWS

The threat of danger to the Rus-slan troops who evacuated Warsaw and are supposed to be still making their way eastward into Russia, seems to be greatest from the north.

Real Menace to Russians

The advance of the German forces in the territory southwest of Dvinsk is set forth at considerable detail in news despatches from London and this military movement, supported by railroad connections from Libau and Shavli, constitutes, in the opinion of British observers, a real menace to the forces of Grand Duke Nicholas.

Russians Evacuating Kovno

An indication of the extent of the German progress in the Baltic provinces of Russia is found in a despatch from Copenhagen which says that the city of Kovno, some 50 miles to the west of Vilna, is being evacuated by the Russian municipal officials as well as by the civilian population. Furthermore, Riga, at the mouth of the river Dvina, is expected to pass to German possession at any time.

Greece Holding Out

News despatches from Athens indicate that Greece is holding out against the allies in their evident effort to win this country, a key to the entire Balkan situation, to their side. The adherence of Bulgaria and

After being defaulted for skipping his bail while a complaint charging assault and battery upon his wife Mary was pending and keeping out of reach of the law for about three weeks, William J. TWO MURDERERS HANGED IN PUBLIC

STARKVILLE, Miss., Aug. 7.—Peter Bolen and Jim Seales, negroes, convicted of killing another negro, were hanged in public here yesterday. The gallows was built in a natural amphitheatre which afforded the crowd of several thousand, including many women, an unobstructed view of the hangings. At the request of the doomed men, the crowd sang the hymns "There is a Land of Pure Delight" just before the traps were sprung. Soft drink and candy vendors sold their wares among the crowd while it waited for the executions.

GEN. CARRANZA AGREES TO PEACE CONFERENCE

Brief Filed With Sec. Lansing Also Asks Recognition—Authoritative Announcement of Views of the U. S. to Bring About Peace in Mexico

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7.—The Mexican situation moved forward today with two important developments.

General Carranza signed his willingness to meet his adversaries in a peace conference and an authoritative announcement was made of the views with which the United States is approaching the problem in the Pan-American conference. The position of the United States was officially stated as follows:

That neither Carranza nor any other military faction in Mexico is in control of the country or can be considered as triumphant in the republic.

That the real purpose of the revolution was accomplished a year ago when Huerta was overthrown, and that the strife which has continued since has been over factional differences and has not been in reality a revolution.

That it considers General Villa, while financially weakened, still an active element in Mexican affairs, who must be reckoned with in an adjustment.

That the so-called client states do not enter into the problem now because it is considered that the overthrow of Huerta disposed of that element.

That the greater portion of Mexico is not at peace, as General Carranza claims, because fighting continues in many sections from Tehuantepec to the Rio Grande and from Vera Cruz to Mazatlan.

That the first problem to be solved in restoration of peace is to find for provisional president a man who represents the cause of the original revolution against Huerta but who does not necessarily represent any of the factions now at war.

This outline is the first authoritative statement of the basis upon which the United States is proceeding.

General Carranza's brief, filed with the state department by his American counsel, Charles A. Douglas, not only proposes a peace conference with his adversaries, but practically asks recognition.

M'CALL RAPS SEN. LODGE

Demands That Cushing Call a Halt—Widens Split in G. O. P.—Party Being Made Like Mexico

BOSTON, Aug. 7.—Ex-Congressman Samuel W. McCall last night issued a statement in which he takes decided exception to what he terms "offensive characterizations" of his own supporters by his rival for the republican nomination for governor, Lieut. Gov. Cushing, and the latter's political friends.

While the statement was called forth by Congressman Gardner's somewhat peppery letter endorsing Mr. Cushing's candidacy, it takes the form of a protest against Mr. Cushing's course of action since last winter and contains some very pointed remarks about officeholders and other matters. The statement follows:

"I have read Mr. Gardner's statement in favor of Mr. Cushing. I had all along known that he was supporting Mr. Cushing and I knew also that hundreds of republicans in his own congressional district had signed my nomination papers and voluntarily offered me their support.

"I do not question the entire propriety of Mr. Gardner's position, and I should hardly regard it as calling for comment, except for the manner in which it was made known. He characterized my supporters as 'office holders, past, present and hopeful.' This attitude is in line with Mr. Cushing's course since last winter. He has stigmatized in general terms and sometimes by name the republicans who were supporting me.

"In view of the reputation of these references by Mr. Cushing, and now by Mr. Gardner, I deem it proper to refer to the subject myself.

Cushing's Supporters

"They do not mention the men who are supporting Mr. Cushing. Are they ashamed to name them? Or do they think it better to let, not Mr. Cushing's virtues, but my vices speak?

"I must admit that all the republican ex-governors, taking them in the order of their service, from John D. Long to Curtis Guild, declared in favor of my nomination as against Mr. Cushing. There is not one in the list who did not get his office at least as honestly as Mr. Gardner got his, and who is as fairly entitled to advise his fellow republicans.

"I might add to them Mr. Frothingham, Mr. Luce, Roger Wolcott, Courtenay Crocker and hundreds of other thoroughly disinterested and representative republicans who are supporting me. I do not propose to submit quietly to having these gentlemen offensively characterized.

GREECE WILL NOT CEDE TERRITORY

LONDON, Aug. 7, 8.10 a. m.—"Greece will not cede one inch of territory to Bulgaria" was the substance of a reply made by Premier Gounaris to a delegation of Macedonian deputies who asked a statement relative to the purposes of the government, says a Reuter despatch from Athens.

In the negotiations which have been conducted by the allies of the quadruple entente with Bulgaria in an effort to induce her to enter the war on their side she has consistently demanded that she be ceded that part of Macedonia which was awarded to Serbia at the close of the Balkan wars. She has also sought to obtain at least a portion of the Macedonian territory which came under the Greek flag in the same way.

Macedonia was a Turkish province until the close of the Balkan war. The statement attributed to M. Gounaris is significant in view of the fact that the British, French, Russian and Italian ministers at Athens called upon him Wednesday and made united representations regarding the political situation. Their purpose was to gain the assistance of Greece.

Similar representations were made yesterday by the representatives of the same nations at Nish to the Serbian premier. This was regarded as the second step in the attempt to bring about a Balkan agreement so that Bulgaria, Roumania and Greece may be numbered among the allies.

REPORT FROM FRENCH WAR OFFICE

PARIS, Aug. 7, 2.50 p. m.—The French war office this afternoon gave out a statement on the progress of hostilities in France, reading as follows:

"Last night passed quietly on the western part of the front. There has been reported nothing more than some engagements with hand grenades in the vicinity of Souchez and artillery fighting in the region of Tracy-le-Val and in the neighborhood of Bery-au-Bac.

"In the western section of the Arponne there has been a continuance of the very spirited fighting with grenades and bombs. An attack of the enemy in the vicinity of Hill No 213 has been repulsed.

"In Lorraine a strong German reconnaissance has been dispersed by our fire at a point not far from Leitney.

"In the Vosges there has been nothing to report."

either by Mr. Cushing or Mr. Gardner.

"Since Mr. Gardner mentions officeholders as my supporters, I will name the most prominent men I know of who are supporting Mr. Cushing—Augustus P. Gardner, Harrison H. Atwood, Andrew P. Doyle, Walter McLane, Frank J. Batchelder. Every one of these men is or has been an officeholder, except Mr. Batchelder, who issued the 11th-hour circular in Mr. Cushing's interest last year. It is a perfectly well known fact that Mr. Batchelder and his friends have been traversing the commonwealth in the interest of Mr. Cushing. His activities are well known.

Progressive Support

"Mr. Gardner, like Mr. Cushing, has much to say about progressive support. What particular progressive issue does Mr. Cushing's career illustrate? Again let me ask them to name the progressives who are supporting him. For my part, I will say that every prominent progressive who has declared himself since the last election in favor of either republican candidate has declared for me.

"Mr. Gardner says that he is supporting Mr. Cushing because for a number of years back the management of our party in the state of Massachusetts has not rested in the hands of persons ready to approach modern problems with open minds. In whose hands had the management of our party in Massachusetts rested for a quarter of a century before the direct primary put it in the hands of its voters? There will be but one name that will spring to the lips of republicans all over the commonwealth. It is the name of a distinguished gentleman who is a member of Mr. Gardner's household.

"This is Mr. Gardner's attack and not mine. But I do not propose to permit him to go on to abuse the ear of Massachusetts as to throw upon me any responsibility for that management, of which he himself and Mr. Cushing were the beneficiaries and to which I never owed anything whatever. Had it not been for the fidelity of a great district in the commonwealth my public career would long ago have been terminated so far as any action of this management was concerned.

"Fossilized Republicans"

"Mr. Gardner further says that he is for Mr. Cushing because the republican party cannot be put on a sound footing in the state or elsewhere for that matter until there is new liberal open-minded blood infused into the veins of its management. Evidently he is intending to restore the party by patriotically offering his own veins and those of Mr. Cushing for this transfusion of blood. I doubt if the republicans of Massachusetts will be misled by foolish talk of infusing new blood into the party espoused from the veins of fossilized republicans.

"Mr. Gardner was the candidate two years ago and Mr. Cushing was his manager. I shall not yield to the temptation to make any reference to that campaign, but this at least should be said, that Mr. Gardner's adventure into leadership was not attended with such a distressing amount of success as to warrant him in throwing his brands into the ranks of a party that is now longing to be reunited.

"The campaign a year ago, when I undertook it, seemed hopeless. Since the election, the coming campaign has appeared not only full of hope but to have almost a certainty of success.

Against Mexican Methods

"Mr. Cushing's speeches since last winter and his interview two weeks ago in the Springfield Republican, followed by Mr. Gardner's declaration, give strong ground for the inference that they are not unwilling to make my election when nominated difficult to achieve.

"I proceeded upon the theory that instead of reflecting upon the supporters of the other candidate, I should do what I could to get all republicans to come together. It has been my view to let the mass of the party settle the question and not produce a condition in our ranks like that in Mexico, where, having expelled an enemy from their country, rival handbills in their struggle for leadership made her condition worse than it had been before.

"It is not necessary for either candidate or his friends to make glaring allusions to the other candidate or his friends. It has been my desire that the contest shall be so conducted that the republican party shall have a candidate for governor who will receive the united support of the party, and if that shall be, then victory is assured."

PRESIDENT OF PORTUGAL

Bernardino Machado Elected by Congress on the Third Ballot—Popular With All Classes

LISBON, Aug. 6, via Paris, Aug. 7, 5.25 a. m.—Bernardino Machado was elected by congress today president of the republic of Portugal.

Senhor Machado, who was supported by the two principal parties, was chosen on the third ballot by a majority of 134 of the 379 members present.

The new president is popular with all classes in Portugal and although large crowds assembled outside the chamber to await the action of parliament, his election generally was considered a certainty.

Senhor Machado has been prominent for years in the public life of Portugal, having been premier, provisional minister of foreign affairs, minister of the interior and minister to Brazil. He has been considered the foremost man in the republican party, and before the overthrow of the monarchy was regarded as the logical choice of that party for the presidency. In January, 1908, he was accused of conspiracy against the crown but the charges never were proved.

When King Manuel II was deposed and the republic proclaimed on Oct. 5, 1910, Senhor Machado was appointed minister of foreign affairs of the provisional government. The following year he was a candidate for the presidency but was defeated by Dr. Manuel Arraiga whom he will now succeed. Four months after his defeat he was appointed minister to Brazil. In February, 1914, he was asked to form a new cabinet and was successful in his efforts but he and his ministers resigned ten months later.

The new president, who is 65 years of age, formerly was professor of philosophy in Coimbra university but was ousted from his chair because he joined the anti-clerical movement. He has been regarded as strongly pro-British.

One of the interesting stories regarding Senhor Machado is that he served as Portuguese minister to Washington in 1900 and 1901 under the name of Marquis de Santo Thyrsio but was recalled because he made a premature announcement to his country of President McKinley's death, which resulted in Lisbon sending messages of condolence four or five days before the president died. After his recall, according to the story, he dropped the title, which was of papal origin and resumed his family name.

The president of the republic of Portugal is elected by joint vote of both chambers of parliament for a term of four years and cannot be re-elected.

ADVANTAGES OF THE PANAMA CANAL

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 7. The American Association for the Advancement of Science concluded its sessions here last night, Paul S. Reinsch, United States minister in China, being the principal speaker. His address was on "The Economic Future of the Pacific."

"The opening of the Panama canal," said Mr. Reinsch, "will mean that Oriental commerce will again take that place in the minds of the New England and New York merchants which it held in the days of the China clipper of one hundred years ago. But, while it will give New York and Boston and Galveston a more direct control of Pacific trade routes and a more direct interest in Pacific development, it will also increase the importance of San Francisco and Seattle as the most immediate links between American capital and commerce and the markets of the far east."

meeting tonight in Trades & Labor hall, and present indications point to the session being largely attended. Notices have been sent out to all the bakers of the city relative to the meeting, and any person interested in the movement is invited to attend. A number of prominent labor organizers will be the speakers.

Electrical Workers

An interesting meeting of the Electrical Workers' union was held last night in the union rooms in the Fiske building with the majority of the members in attendance. Business of considerable importance was transacted and a number of committee reports were read and accepted as progressive.

Organizing the Machinists

According to leading labor men of the city, the campaign for organization waged by the International Association of Machinists, will shortly move on to this city, notwithstanding the fact that the local union of machinists has a very small membership as compared with a year ago, when the organization had over 1900 members in good standing.

Vice President P. J. Conlin of the International Association of Machinists will come to this city as soon as the trouble at Hyde Park is settled it is said, and steps will be taken to demand an eight hour workday and increased wages for machinists working in local plants manufacturing munitions of war. An effort will also be made to organize the women working in munitions plants. Owing to the success achieved in other cities where the movement has been inaugurated, the labor men are optimistic over the opportunities offered to organize the workers of this city. Vice President Conlin was instructed some time last week to come to this city to take up organizing duties. It is said, but - that strike at Hyde Park detained him.

PUBLIC HEALTH SERVICE ESTIMATES THERE ARE NOT MORE THAN 200,000 VICTIMS

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7.—According to reports of the United States Public Health service, there are not more than 200,000 persons in the United States who are addicted to the use of drugs.

Published reports of hospital admissions since the Harrison anti-narcotic law went into effect support this view, as showing no such terrible and widespread effect upon the users of drugs as had been predicted.

Martha J. Wilbert, technical assistant in the hygienic laboratory of the Public Health service, who has made a careful investigation of the matter, says the injurious effects of the enforcement of the Harrison law have been greatly exaggerated.

"It had been predicted that the result of the enforcement of the law would be a beseeching of hospitals by drug addicts, accompanied by a wave of crime of national scope, accompanied by a trail of suicide and death."

Mr. Wilbert says further, "while the effect of the enforcement of the federal anti-narcotic law has been clearly evidenced by hospital reports, the results have been by no means so far-reaching or so startling as had been expected."

Practically all of the opium and cocaine used in this country, he asserts, "is imported through legitimate channels, and because the considerable care is exercised to insure the reporting and recording of all the product at our disposal, so that we have fairly reliable data on which to base an estimate of the amount of either drug that is available for all purposes."

ITALIAN SUBMARINE SUNK

PARIS, Aug. 7, 4.55 a. m.—The Italian submarine Nereide is reported to have been sunk in an encounter with an Austrian submarine off the island of Pelagos in the Adriatic sea, according to a special despatch from Rome.

Nereide, which was built in 1913, was 134 feet long with a beam of 14 feet and a displacement of 315 tons gross. Her peace time complement was 17 men.

POSTOFFICE DEPT. IN ANNOUNCEMENT CIVIL SERVICE EXAMINATION MAKES DEFINITE RULE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7.—No "grass widow" need apply for any job in the gift of the postmaster general.

This is the decree issued yesterday in the announcement of a competitive examination for Oct. 7 by the United States civil service commission.

The clause covering this feature of eligibility and desirability is too strict to admit of misconception, so the matrimonially dissatisfied must either turn to the courts for a divorce decree or seek other fields of human endeavor to pay the bills of the butcher, the baker and monkey dresser.

Uncle Sam has decided to leave one loophole for the near-widow by placing her on the eligible list once she obtains a divorce.

MALDEN'S HIGHEST TAX

MAYOR ATTRIBUTES $22.50 RATE TO INCREASED STATE AND DECREASED CORPORATION TAX

MALDEN, Aug. 7.—The highest tax rate in the city's history, $22.50, was announced yesterday afternoon, an increase of $1.00 since 1911.

Mayor William M. Blakeley said last night: "The increase in the state tax and the falling off of the corporation tax are two pretty good reasons why the citizens of Malden will be forced to pay the highest tax in the history of the city this year."

"I have tried to make my administration an economic one. I have, perhaps sent in more vetoes on appropriations and increases in salaries than any other mayor in the city's history. Scores of such orders and appropriations have been passed over my veto."

ON LARCENY CHARGE

REGINALD P. TRACY, CREDIT MANAGER OF WESTERN ELECTRIC CO., ARRESTED

BOSTON, Aug. 7.—Reginald P. Tracy of Manthorne road, West Roxbury, nine years credit manager of the Western Electric company of 30 Farnsworth street, South Boston, was arrested last night, charged with embezzling funds of the Western Electric company. He was later released on bail.

The complaint upon which Tracy was arrested charges that the theft of $629.67, but the actual amount missing is alleged to be much greater.

The actual shortage in Tracy's accounts may be several thousands, the accountants working over his books had not completed their work up to a late hour, last night, and officials of the company declined to make any estimate of what the total loss may be.

PRES. WILSON UP EARLY

CORNISH, N. H., Aug. 7.—President Wilson got up early to play golf with Dr. Cary T. Grayson his naval aid and physician and Prof. George Howe of the University of North Carolina, his nephew. They were out on the private links of P. A. Kennedy near here before 8 a. m.

The president entered today on the third week of his present visit to the summer capital. No definite plans had been made for his return to Washington, but it is understood that he will leave one day next week.

CUT RATES ON LEASED WIRES

NEW YORK, Aug. 7.—H. S. Brooks, general commercial superintendent of the American Telephone & Telegraph Co., announced today that the company had cut by 50 per cent the night rates on leased press wires. This follows similar action last week by the Postal Telegraph Co.

TYNGSBORO

A good number of members from the Tyngsboro Grange went on the farm inspection excursion yesterday, in spite of the inclemency of the weather, and they all report a profitable and enjoyable trip.

The heavy rain of Wednesday did considerable damage to the crops, especially corn, many whole fields being laid low with little hope that they may wholly recover.

Mrs. Clara Swallow and Mrs. E. S. Perham are suffering from tonsillitis.

Mrs. Merrill and a granddaughter from Gorham, Me., are visiting Ayers Butterfield.

I. T. U. DELEGATES AT LOS ANGELES

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Aug. 7.—Special trains bearing more than 500 delegates to the annual meeting of the International Typographical union, which convenes Monday, were due here today. The party of officers and delegates, who have been visiting the Panama-California exposition at San Diego, returned last night and today were prepared to begin the work of the coming session. Among those in attendance are Marsden G. Scott, New York, president; Hugo Miller, Indianapolis, second vice president, and John W. Hays, Indianapolis, secretary-treasurer.

GUARD GOV. WHITMAN AND FAMILY

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 7.—The threatening letters to Mrs. Whitman at the New York governor's summer home here unveils in part elaborate precautions which have been taken for Gov. Whitman's safety since Becker's electrocution. At least one prominent detective is looking out for the welfare of both the governor and his family here and it is learned from authentic sources that the use of a torpedo boat to bring him here was simply the government's part in the carefully laid preparations to give him a safe journey from Albany and that all through Massachusetts and Connecticut the route was carefully guarded.

Gov. Beekman is taking a personal hand in seeing that Rhode Island does its part. No harm is expected to be possible to the visiting governor but the strain on Mrs. Whitman's nerves is the feature giving the most anxiety.

EMMA GOLDMAN AND MGR. ARRESTED

PORTLAND, Ore., Aug. 7.—Emma Goldman, the anarchist, writer and lecturer, was out on bail today following her arrest here last night on a charge of circulating literature of an alleged illegal character but Benjamin Reitman, her manager, was still held in jail on the same charge.

IN POLICE COURT

found another complaint had been lodged against him during his absence and this forenoon pleaded not guilty to the assault and battery charge and also to a complaint alleging the non-support of his better half, whom he is said to have abused.

The assault occurred in a house at 63 Brookings street about three weeks ago. Mrs. Carney claimed that during a slight altercation between herself and husband, the latter became angered and punched her on the face. For a time it was necessary to have her countenance covered with bandages and though the assault was committed over three weeks ago, the woman still carries two black eyes. Relative to the non-support complaint, Mrs. Carney claims she has not received any money from her husband since Easter, when he gave her $8 out of his weekly earnings.

When Carney testified he admitted striking his wife, but was indignant that she complained of him for failing to support her. He said that he gave her money within a week, but as he had been away until a day or two ago his Honor did not credit this testimony. Carney said he is a stationary engineer capable of earning $12.50 a week. Judge Fisher did not believe he was in condition to go out and work now, however, and ordered him committed to jail for one month on the assault charge. The other case was continued until the expiration of this period for sentence.

Costly Standing Room

For assaulting Edmund A. Gilbert, a Bay State street railway conductor, during an argument as to where a passenger has a right to stand, William H. Welsh was requested to pay a fine of $25. He pleaded guilty.

The sad part of the story is that William is to join the rank and file of the beneficiaries in two weeks and has no money with which to pay the fine. He was committed this morning, but with an attempt to have friends gather the necessary money so that his plans will not be delayed.

Conductor Gilbert left Merrimack square about 7 o'clock bound for North Chelmsford. The defendant boarded the car near the corner of Branch and Middlesex streets and as the seats were all filled was obliged to stand on the running board. When the conductor asked him to stand on the upper running board instead of the lower, it is said, Welsh objected and started to fight. He jumped on the conductor's back and after being pulled off by the motorman, tried it again. The conductor also used a little force in defending himself.

The defendant was on his way to work at the Fletcher Granite works in North Chelmsford, where he received $19 per week. He admitted the striking and only disputed the conductor's testimony about requesting him to stand on the upper step. Welsh claims the conductor called him hard names and insulted him, but this was denied by the complainant. The defendant told his Honor he thought it would have been much fairer to have fought the battle out alongside of the tracks instead of haling him into court. This gave Judge Fisher the impression that Welsh was too willing to fight and a fine of $25 was imposed.

Primrose Hill Again

Ahmed and Allie Owad, residents of Primrose Hill, Dracut, which has been given so much publicity in police court recently, played a mean, contemptible trick on Middlesex street, on July 27 and in consequence each paid a $10 fine today. They pleaded guilty to assaulting a street keeper.

Daniel J. Donahue, appearing for the complainant, stated that while Hermon was waiting on a customer the roads tapped on his shoulder and told him to get out of the way. The complainant hurried out, but much to his sorrow learned that he was wanted because the men held a grudge against him and had decided to get revenge on him. It is claimed that the two men "beat up" the store proprietor and then went their way, but were soon brought into court on a warrant. They paid their fines in court this morning.

Had No Place to Go

John Gray, who hangs his hat wherever he works, but unfortunately is a farmer and has not been able to work recently on account of the rain and therefore has been deprived of a home, was before the court charged with trespassing on the land of Rowell S. Fox in Dracut. He pleaded guilty and was asked to pay a fine of $10, but not having the money was committed to jail.

John, who originally came from New Hampshire, last worked in Woburn, but about two weeks ago was discharged and since has been roaming about these parts. He has been unable to find work because of the continued rain, he said, and has been spending his nights as he can. He spent the night in the police station, one charged with drunkenness and the other as a suspicious person. Last night John found himself without a home and so went to Mr. Fox's barn and slept in the hay. He was found early this morning.

NEW YORK DOCTOR DIES AT NASHUA

NASHUA, N. H., Aug. 7.—Dr. Arthur H. Hills, a New York physician, died today at the St. Joseph's hospital of Bright's disease. He was taken ill at the home of his brother at Hudson.

Dr. Hills leaves a widow, a daughter, Mrs. Sherwood Hard of Nyack, N. Y., three brothers and a sister.

DENIES CONNECTION WITH HUERTA

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7.—The state department today issued the following:

"The German ambassador has informed the state department that he denies formally the whole contents of the story of the Providence Journal about his alleged relations with Gen. Huerta, and desires that this statement be given to the press. As the department has no information on the subject, it regards this expression of the ambassador as satisfactory."

ing, however, and placed under arrest by the Dracut constabulary. Mr. Fox said he did not want anything to do with the defendant and told him recently he would not give him work "if he were the last man on earth." That settled John's chances and the fine was imposed.

Went to Her Papa

There was considerable pathos about the court room when the case of Geo. Haddard, accused of non-support of his wife, was tried. The defendant was in the dock and when his wife appeared with two children, one about a year old and the other just able to walk, the older child toddled to her father and he stepped out of the dock and picked her up. With each holding a child they told their stories to the court, the wife claiming that she had not been given money to buy food for the children and the husband testifying he had given her every cent he earned. Judge Fisher did not desire to find the defendant guilty on the evidence and ordered the case continued for two weeks for investigation.

Baseball Pool Case

The cases of Joseph A. Dupont and George Brunelle, the two men charged with having in their possession baseball pool tickets with intent to sell, were called and continued until Aug. 16 at the request of Attorney William A. Hogan, who represents both defendants.

Jeremiah F. Sullivan and John Corrigan were complained of by Patrolman George Abbott for hanging around his beat in the vicinity of city hall and soliciting money from pedestrians. As each appeared to be suffering from the effects of rum, they were sent to the Lowell jail to sober off. Corrigan's time was set at 20 days, while Sullivan got off on 10 days.

To the State Farm

Despite the fact that Matthew Corrigan spent eight months of the past year in jail he has appeared in the local court four times for drunkenness. When brought in this morning a sentence to the state farm was imposed. Georgianna Murphy, another fourth offender, pleaded for another chance for the sale of her children, but a two months' sentence to the Lowell jail was given. The case of Emil Sargent, non-support of wife, was continued until Sept. 4 so that Judge Enright, who heard part of the evidence last month, could dispose of it.

donation toward the construction of the proposed bridge, agreed to donate the sum of $500 providing the plans were accepted by its engineers. Commissioner Morse has always been under the impression that the plans were not to be approved and this morning Engineer Kearney received word from the J. R. Worcester company to the effect that the plans were approved with a few minor changes and suggestions.

A copy of the final blue print as approved by the Worcester company and Prof. George F. Swain contains the following suggestion: That some steel rods be grouted in the bed rocks and that they be run into the concrete at the piers and abutments in order to relieve any danger from hydrostatic pressure at these points in case the water got underneath. These plans are also approved by Prof. Lewis E. Moore, bridge and signal engineer for the public service commission, and all that now remains to be done is to receive the $5000 from the Bay State company and start work on the construction of the bridge.

Bridge Repairs

The Lawrence street bridge across the Concord river is badly in need of repairs, and it is possible that a similar cement bridge will be constructed as was built over the canal in Moody street a few years ago. The bridge flooring is in bad shape and something will have to be done very soon. A couple of years ago the city engineer drew plans for the reconstruction of the bridge, but for certain reasons the plans were abandoned. The sidewalks over the Central bridge are also in need of repairs, while a number of other bridges in the city

Filtration Plant

It was stated at the office of the water department this morning that the test of the entire filtration plant on the boulevard may be made the latter part of this month. What is known as the low lift, which throws the water from the filtration plant after it is filtered, into the main at the West Sixth street pumping station for distribution through the city is now being installed. The foundation for the Holly pump is being constructed and the 24-inch main, 700 feet in length, which lies between the plant and the pumping station is being connected, while Contractor Gow is finishing up the structure. It is possible the entire plant will be in operation before many weeks.

More Architects

Mayor Murphy is in receipt of letters from some thirty additional architects, who wish to be considered when the contract for the plans for the proposed high school will be given out, and among them was a letter from Architect Edward T. P. Graham, who states he has had considerable experience in building school houses in Boston and Cambridge. He says he drew plans for the city hall annex in Boston, the Forsyth Dental Infirmary, the shoe and leather exposition building, St. Elizabeth's hospital in Brighton and several others.

Commissioner Duncan favors giving these architects a hearing and he says he is absolutely in favor of giving the work to a local man, providing he is qualified for the job as an inspector, favoring hiring an out-of-town man as the supervising architect and it is understood that some of the local architects also favor this plan.

Granite Block Sidelwalk

The Lowell Brick & Cement Co. has completed the granite block sidewalk in Merrimack st. in front of St. Anne's church and the company's men are now at work laying a similar walk over the canal bridge near Dutton street. Engineer Henry Bowers is constantly on the job as an inspector for the city and Henry is the right man in the right place as he is very familiar with work of this kind. Engineer Kearney stated this morning that the work of the contractors is very satisfactory in every respect.

Aiding Information

The municipal council of Chicago has appointed a committee to investigate the ownership of public utilities in that city, and accordingly letters were sent to every large city of the country for information concerning this subject. Mayor Murphy received one of those letters today and he turned it over to Supt. Thomas of the water department. The letter was received from Frederick Rex, municipal reference librarian of Chicago.

Rep. Dennis A. Murphy is seeking a reelection for the 15th district and this morning he took out nomination papers. The representative is a democrat and resides in ward 2.

$23 TAX RATE FOR CAMBRIDGE

BOSTON, Aug. 7.—The Cambridge tax rate for 1915, which was announced yesterday, will be $23, an increase of $1.60 over the rate of $21.40 in 1914. Increases in the state, county and city expenses are said to be responsible for the increase.

In the last year there has been an increase in taxable property in the city amounting to $2,180,415. The city expenses increased last year by $235,000, and the state and county tax added $2600 and $7000 respectively. The total valuation of the city, both real and personal property, is $130,071,810, against the valuation of $127,891,395 last year.

SWEDEN MAY JOIN TEUTONS IN WAR

LONDON, Aug. 7, 4.43 a. m.—The London Morning Post declares the attitude of Sweden toward Russia and the latter's allies for some time past has revealed elements of a disquieting character.

"Embodied by recent German successes," the newspaper says, "the latent hostility of Sweden, which has never forgiven the loss of Finland, has become strongly developed. Considerable preparations for warlike contingencies have been made in north Sweden and the Swedish army is fully mobilized. If Sweden persists in her unfriendly attitude toward Russia she may rapidly drift into a war which would inevitably be a great obstacle to her future progress."

The Times in a long analysis of the Swedish situation says the war party has lost its importance and the people generally accept neutrality as the wisest course.

WOMAN KILLED, DAUGHTER DYING

ST. JOHNSBURY, Vt., Aug. 7.—Mrs. Alice Morrill, aged 50, wife of John D. Morrill of Barnet, was killed yesterday afternoon and her daughter, Miss Myrtle Morrill, aged 19, was probably fatally injured, when their horse ran away on West Hill.

The women were driving to this place and when they started down the hill the breeching of the harness broke, throwing the wagon against the horse.

Miss Morrill was driving and tried to turn the animal into a doorway, but her mother took the reins from her hands and kept to the road. Near the foot of the hill the wagon was overturned and both women thrown several feet. Mrs. Morrill striking on her head. Dr. W. B. Fitch was called and found her dead from a fractured skull.

PERNICIOUS LIQUOR ADVERTISING

In the columns of many New England newspapers recently, large and costly advertisements have been published under the auspices of the Brewers' Association, setting forth the advantages of drinking beer and other intoxicants. For a longer period a somewhat similar series of advertisements has been running in the same section of the press, describing flagrantly and flippantly how the fathers of this country and the greatest men of all countries patronized some variety of the brew that was thus exploited. So cleverly are these advertisements worded, and so insidious is their appeal that the imbibing of "booze" is painted not only as an accomplishment but as a virtue.

The Sun regards this species of advertising as dangerous, insidious, poisonous, and utterly unfit for the pages of a family newspaper. Such an influence on a family circle cannot be for good. It whispers into the ear of the growing boy and girl: "If it was proper for the great men of the past to drink and to approve of drinking, why is it not proper for us to drink and to approve of drinking?" The young do not readily see that social customs have changed and that public manners now demand higher standards. In other days, drinking was indeed a widespread social custom, and many profound deliberations were arrived at over strong concoctions, but it is no longer considered good form. Drinking even in moderation is now universally condemned and regarded as a vice while drinking to excess is looked upon as an unspeakable curse to the human race. It has cost the world more in money, health, crime and misery than anything else, and the growing sentiment of all nations is now against it.

The Sun has long refused to print such advertisements and for many years past nothing of the kind has been admitted to its pages. This stand of The Sun has meant an enormous loss of revenue, but as a matter of conscience those responsible for the decision decided that they could not print palliations of vice in a newspaper going into practically every home in this city. The advertisements published by other papers have been constantly and persistently offered to The Sun, not only at this office but through Boston and other agencies, but they have been invariably and emphatically turned down.

The Sun will continue to reject dangerous advertisements such as have appeared lately in the pages of many New England newspapers and by so doing stand strongly for principle regardless of the financial loss. We have no quarrel with the brewers who advertise intoxicating drink, the men who use it, or the papers which accept advertisements selling forth its advantages. Others may print such insidious and false inducements if they wish; others may sell beer and other intoxicants if they so choose and the voters are willing; others may drink, if they so foolishly decide, but The Sun cannot in conscience mitigate the evils of drinking by allowing the use of its columns for the advancement of liquor selling and liquor drinking. We refuse the use at any price of the columns of the powerful instrument at our command for the promulgation of vice. It may cost The Sun thousands of dollars annually, as it has already during the years that The Sun has refused such advertisements, but it is a matter of gratification to all concerned that, without such a source of revenue, The Sun has prospered consistently and has kept up a sturdy and growing circulation.

It must soon dawn on the entire country that advertisements such as The Sun refuses are against sound public policy and general morality. Though skillfully phrased and smoothly insidious, they are deeply dangerous and must in time be turned down by the decent section of the press everywhere as they are now turned down by The Sun. The great danger of these plausible and seductive advertisements is well illustrated by Pope's famous verse on the result of becoming familiar with any form of vice:

"Vice is a monster of so frightful mien,
As, to be hated, needs but to be seen;
Yet, seen too oft, familiar with her face,
We first endure, then pity, then embrace."

WHAT AFTER WARSAW?

In the greatest and most mighty sweep in all history, the Germans have been successful in their drive against Warsaw and the capital of Russian Poland is theirs, as is the country itself. So ominous was the danger to Russia and so dire were the possibilities that there was only a nominal defense, and the Russian commanders busied themselves with getting their armies away from the menace which threatened. The German offensive has been partially successful; had it been wholly successful, there would be no Russian army, to all intents and purposes.

The danger to Russia is not yet over, and a few days will show whether Germany will rest on its achievements on the east or pursue its original policy still farther. Great enveloping movements are on foot north and south of the fallen capital, and it may be that the retreating Russian army will be overtaken and outwitted. The names of Von Mackensen, Von Hindenburg and Von Ruell silence skepticism, and some military experts say that the Germans are striving to throw a ring around the armies of Grand Duke Nicholas, which are now retreating, or have retreated to a new line further east. The Russian armies are still intact, but admittedly short of ammunition; the future therefore is in doubt.

Commentators on the situation have advanced many forecasts of compelling interests. Some say that the Germans will leave a comparatively small army in Poland to keep back the Russians who cannot come back in strength for some time and will throw millions of soldiers against the allied lines in the west. Others predict a great drive against Serbia to intimidate the wavering Balkan states and get supplies of ammunition to the Dardanelles. Either Calais or Constantinople or Paris may be the objective of the next great German offensive, but whatever is done will be done quickly.

Time is on the side of the allies, and all the belligerents realize it. This may account for the apparent inactivity of the English and French troops in Belgium and France who kept up the deadlock while the Russians were being sorely driven in the east. Germany is still strong, and the allies wait for Germany to take the offensive. The spirit of all the nations is still high and the future is dark, even though success seems at present to favor the Teutonic cause.

If the Germans do not follow the taking of Warsaw with further victories in the east, the victory may not have been worth the sacrifice. Russia has shown great powers of recuperating and with increased ammunition, it could keep a large German army active for months to come. Furthermore, any attempt at Paris or Calais would be at a tremendous loss, and Germany cannot afford to lose men in the same proportion as after the first great drive on Paris. In the last analysis, the ultimate triumph or advantage will be with the side that has the most men and munitions, and that can get them into use the quickest. The allies are still sure of triumphing; so apparently is Germany. The future is on the knees of the gods.

THOSE PESKY NEUTRALS

From the point of view of the belligerents, a powerful neutral nation must be a very great annoyance, because no war policy can be decided on until its possible effect on the neutral in question is considered. Nations at war as the nations of the old world are now at war do not have to care what the enemy thinks of their respective plans, but all neutral very carefully indeed, particularly when that neutral happens to be as rich and powerful as the United States of America.

When a belligerent pursues some war policy that is grossly inhuman or contrary to law, the belligerent opposed plans something in retaliation; this in turn calls for a counter move, followed by more retaliation, and so on ad infinitum. To each protest by one belligerent the other belligerent says virtually that "necessity knows no law," and in war this is unfortunately true. Yet this plan will not do to satisfy the neutrals whose rights may be impaired in the war tactics of the principals.

Were there no neutrals of importance, how little Germany would have to fear as a sequel to its submarine policy. It might sink everything that sails the seas and still avoid new complications. Now, it sinks twenty or fifty English vessels of more or less importance and hears nothing but bravos, but when it sinks one American vessel, or an English vessel on which are some American lives, there are delicate interchanges of diplomatic notes and dangers of new and strong foes. Germany must be very much annoyed because of the neutrals, or because of the neutrals that speak right up when they think Germany is trampling on their toes.

With no neutrals of importance, how much pleasanter it would be for Great Britain! In its desire to starve out Germany it might hold up every cargo going to Germany and coming from there, and there would be no protests such as are now emanating from our state department. As things are, England finds itself obliged to weigh the possible consequences of detentions and prize court decisions on American opinion, and the demands and protests of the neutrals are as continuous as the attacks of the enemy. What bothersome things neutral nations are, to be sure!

For the world at large and for humanity, it is an excellent thing that in this war there are neutrals, for international law would be thrown out completely and there would be no right but that of might. Neutrals may not have been able to do a great deal to save for coming generations the fragments of law and principle that shine above the conflict, but they have registered many complaints and protests that must be heard when sanity returns to earth. It may be that in golden days to come, the feeble voice of the neutrals of today will have a greater influence than the guns that are thundering so loudly now on many a battlefield. May it be soon!

MERRIMACK RIVER

Col. Craighill now thinks the navigation of the Merrimack river worth $70,000,000 to the cities and towns along the channel. This does away with his previous contention that the returns may not justify the outlay. Surely a project that is worth so much is well worth while, and when plans for river development are worth while, the government should be interested. Boonmers of the navigation plan from all parts of the Merrimack valley have gathered indisputable evidence to prove that the scheme would benefit this region immensely, and both the feasibility and desirability of the project have been officially admitted. Boston is talking about the possible expenditure of $40,000,000 for a new terminal that would not affect Boston any more than the navigation of the Merrimack would improve Lowell, Lawrence, Haverhill, Newburyport and the smaller communities. Anything that is worth doing is worth agitating; let us keep up the good work of booming the plans for the navigation of the Merrimack.

THAT HOSPITAL SITE

It would be really interesting to know if the municipal council favors the so-called Gage lot on Seventh avenue for the erection of a hospital, or only as a hospital "site." It would seem that by the letter of the law, as called to our attention by the state board of health, this city is obliged to start definite plans by September 1. Some wise individuals in the city government and out may think that the selection of a site will cover the law. As for the erection of a hospital, well—there is time enough for that. The policy of putting things off as far as possible and making a bluff at taking them up when they can be put off no longer is a favorite policy at city hall. The municipal council has given us a site; when will they give us a hospital—and where will it be erected?

What Hortense Told Me

Hortense thinks if there ever was an age when ladies needed a pretty, well rounded leg it is today, for the straight effect has come back for high and waist line and the lower part of the skirt is wide and breezy-tempting. There is not the slightest need of anyone being uncomfortable in this regard, since the legs are the easiest part of the body to reduce. Six weeks walking among the hills will take off every ounce of your flesh, keeping only the tone on the ground meanwhile. Then rise and repeat.

The best thing I ever accomplished to improve my appearance was to transform a pair of very round, stooped shoulders into a pair of very straight shoulders, by following the advice of Hortense.

I stood in front of the mirror and stretched my hands out straight in front of me, with my arms straight, then, without bending the elbows, raised them up straight about my head, as high and straight as I could reach. Then, without bending the elbows, I bowed and bending my whole arms from the shoulders as far back as I could until it hurt just a little, I lowered them slowly, gradually turning the palms outward, and repeating the exercise so, until my hands fell at my sides.

It did it all slowly and without any strain, watching it in the glass as I did so, and the first trial almost convinced me I had found the solution of my long problem.

To cure pimples and blackheads requires time and patience and one must be exceedingly careful in regard to diet. The face must be washed and treated twice a week. Always apply the cleansing cream to face and throat and wipe it off thoroughly before sneezing. Then massage the face with the cream for 10 minutes; wipe this all off and apply the toilet water with a soft towel.

Pimple Lotion—Precipitate sulphur, one dram; spirits of camphor, one dram; rose water, four ounces.

Pimple Cream—Lanoline, one and a quarter ounces; oil of sweet almonds, one and a quarter ounces; precipitate sulphur, one and a quarter ounces; oxide of zinc, five drams; violet extract, one dram.

Cleansing Cream—Almond oil, four ounces; white wax, one ounce; white vaseline, one ounce; extract of violet, 10 drops.

Toilet Water—Elderflower water, two ounces; distilled water, two ounces.

Vaseline or castor oil rubbed into the scalp every other night will remove dandruff, says Hortense. If you object to using either of these you can try the sulphur treatment.

To rub the scalp add a quart of soft water, and during intervals of several days, agitate the mixture repeatedly repeatedly. After the sulphur has settled, use the soft water; the hair will become soft and glossy, and there will be no return of the old trouble. This remedy, however, will darken light hair.

To make your cheeks plump, says Hortense, rub the skin food, for which the cream is made, into the skin with the following movements: To treat the right cheek place the thumb of the left hand just beyond the corner of the mouth on the left cheek as a brace. Make rows of dots upward and outward, beginning at the corner of the mouth and making three emerging lines of manipulation over the cheek. With the right hand then treat the left cheek.

Skin Food: Sweet oil of almonds, two ounces; orange flower water, two ounces; white wax, one ounce; oil of sweet orange, one dram; spermaceti, two drams.

Half fill a saucer with boiling water and stand on one side of it. Stir the wax and spermaceti into the water and let it dissolve. Heat the almond oil and add to the wax. Heat the orange flower water and add to the mixture quickly and lift the jar out of the pan. Beat the mixture thoroughly. Heat and add the oil of sweet orange. Beat and add the oil of sweet orange. Beat and add the oil of sweet orange. Beat and add the oil of sweet orange.

To reduce your weight, Hortense says, all dainties and sweets must be given up and only coarse breads, like wheat and entire wheat, may be eaten. In fruits only oranges, cranberries, currants, peaches, apples and green vegetables in moderation. Salads are all right and a small amount of condiments.

In order to gain weight, one must be in good health and free from all worry. One should eat plenty of nourishing food and cheer up every morning. It is also necessary to get a good night's sleep and exercise in the fresh air. Drink milk if you can and take three raw eggs a day.

POSTAL SAVINGS BANK

Increase in Number of Deposits at Local Postoffice—Some Changes Recommended

The postal savings bank system is now in operation nearly four years, and during that space of time the system in Lowell, like that established in every postoffice throughout the country, has proven a great success.

There were 76 new accounts opened at the local office, which is situated in the lower left hand corridor of the postoffice during the month of July, and during the same month 53 accounts were closed, showing a net gain of 23 accounts. There were 445 deposits made during the same month with an amount of $15,471 while 173 withdrawals, amounting to $8265, shows a balance of $7206 on the right side. This month there are 1153 open accounts with a total of approximately $162,000 on deposit.

The amount of patrons of the new banking system is increasing every day, and everything possible is done by the competent and painstaking clerks to furnish information which will be of benefit to the new depositors.

Object of Bank
The object of the postal savings system, which was established by authority of the acts of congress, approved June 25, 1910, was for the purpose of providing facilities for depositing savings at interest, with the security of the United States government for repayment. The faith of the United States is solemnly pledged to the payment of deposits made in postal savings depository offices, with accrued interest, which is 2 per cent, as provided by the postal savings act, and the amount deposited in the local office bears proof that the people of Lowell place implicit trust in the government handling their savings accounts.

Who May Deposit
An account may be opened and deposits made by any person of the age of 18 years or over in his or her name, or by a married woman in her own name and free from control or interference by her husband. This should appear on appeal to some of the married ladies.

Deposits are accepted from individuals only, and an account can be opened in the name of any corporation, association, society, firm or partnership, or in the name of two or more persons jointly. Neither can an account be opened in the name of one person in trust for, or on behalf of another person or persons. A person may open an account at any postoffice, but no person may at the same time have more than one postal savings account at the same office or at different offices. All accounts shall be opened in person by the depositor or his authorized representative, and after opening an account the depositor may forward his deposits to the postoffice by registered mail or by money order, payable to the postmaster. No charge or fee is collected or required in connection with the opening of accounts or the deposit or withdrawals of moneys. When a person applies to open an account he is expected to be able to furnish the necessary information to enable the postmaster to fill out the application which the depositor will then be required to sign.

Deposits are evidenced by postal savings certificates issued in fixed denominations of $1, $2, $5, $10, $20, $50 and $100, each bearing the name of the depositor, the number of his account, the date of issue, and the name of the depository office. The depositor is required to sign a duplicate of each certificate which the postmaster will retain. No account may be opened for less than $1, and no person is permitted to deposit more than $100 in any one calendar month or to have a total balance to his credit at any time of more than $500.

Statutory Restriction
This "statutory restriction," limiting the amount that may be deposited by one person in one calendar month to $100, and the maximum amount that any one depositor may have to his credit of $500, are very seriously the postal savings business in this city, according to Postmaster John F. Meahan, who is taking a great interest in the perfecting of the system.

Almost daily the local office is compelled to decline to accept deposits in excess of $100, and thus thousands of dollars have been turned away. While it is true that some of this has eventually found its way into postal accounts, it is also quite true, perhaps, that some of it went in other directions.

Of the 55 account holders whose balances at the close of June 30, 1915, had reached the $500 maximum, it is certain that all of them would continue to add to their deposits were the particular restriction removed which prevents their so doing.

Nearly three-fifths of the total number of depositors were born in non-English speaking countries, and the value of service the system has rendered.

Conscience in System
The past two years have shown, according to the postmaster, that as this class becomes more familiar with the advantages and safeguards the system affords, they turn to it with confidence and satisfaction. It is a fact that many foreign people are given over to the unwise practice of carrying their hoardings around on their person, or secreting sums of money in unsafe places. They bring their savings to the local depository office, but in many cases, through the operation of the law of deposits, only a part can be accepted. They are thus compelled to hide such parts of their savings as are withheld from deposit. One instance where a part payment only was accepted was related to The Sun representative by Postmaster Meahan.

A peddler of common wares opened an account at the local office last May, and during May and June he made the maximum deposits allowed. Early in July he made a deposit of $84 and on the 7th day of the same month he called to make another deposit. On this occasion he had with him $120 which he wished to have credited to his account. The clerk explained that only $36 could be accepted at that time, but on the first of the month he could deposit $100. The peddler was much perturbed because he could not leave all his money in the postoffice where he was satisfied it would be safe, and finally he urged the clerk to accept the custody of his money until it could be included in his account.

This is typical of many occurrences at the local office that argue for a change in the law that limits the amounts that may be received and held on deposit. In the instance just cited, the peddler is compelled to carry on his person a considerable amount of money or entrust it to some fellow countryman for safe keeping, with little or no guarantee of protection until the present "statutory restriction" permit of its acceptance as a postal savings deposit. The peddler could not be induced to patronize even temporarily a private bank. The foreigner was always more or less skeptical as to the safety of banks, and the Traders bank failure was the last straw.

Two murders recently occurred in this city as a result of the victims carrying large sums of money on their person, and this practice would not be so prevalent if this restriction were done away with.

Postmaster Meahan sums the whole thing up by stating that the restrictions are not calculated to produce the best possible results because they foster the savings habit to a limited degree only.

Increase the Limits
In the postmaster's judgment, the maximum amount that one depositor should be permitted to have to his credit should not be less than one thousand dollars, and the amount of a single deposit should be unlimited to this sum.

In all probability this disappointing feature of the deposit law will be repealed next year, and in the near future we will probably see a large, modern bank installed inside the confines of a new and larger postoffice.

The clerks at the local depository office who are giving all their time and attention to instruct people in the benefits to be derived by starting an account with the government are as follows: John J. Murphy, William H. Gihlin, Patrick J. Keewin, William J. Burns, Albert H. Sparks and John E. Burns.

The following table shows the number of depositors, their birthplaces, amount of deposits and the number of $500 accounts on June 30, 1915:

Be Particular About Shoes

When the short skirt was accepted as an institution, women began to be more particular about their shoes. At first they grew wiser and surer of themselves and their place in the world, they began to use their special sense in demanding the right shoes for their feet. That made the makers of shoes change their lists. They were forced to make shoes that approached nature.

Lines for women's wear as well as for men. The present shoe has the long vamp and slender appearance which characterize the best type of custom made shoes. The short vamp and the stubby toe are frowned on by the best dressers. The long, slender foot, like the long, tapering hand, has ever given the impression of aristocracy in the accepted meaning of the word.

Some may say there are more flat feet now than ever before, but it must be remembered that women are now using their feet as never before and that where one woman buys low heels for dancing, there are a million who wear shoes for general use. Given the consciousness of good shoes and good gloves, and a woman can rise above the knowledge that her gown is not the freshest in style and appearance. Crown her with a modish and becoming hat and she can even forget the shortcomings of the rest of her clothes.

LOCAL BUILDING ITEMS

Wamesit Power Co. to Build Large Garage—Many Building Permits Issued

The number of permits issued during the past week at city hall was considerably less than that of the previous week. No doubt the falling off in building activity as indicated from this source can rightly be attributed to the unfavorable weather conditions.

The most important of the dozen or so permits that were granted was one taken out by the Wamesit Power company for the erection of a garage of large proportions at the corner of Watson and Whipple streets. The list includes several dwellings and smaller buildings.

In Real Estate Circles

In real estate circles, too, business during the past week has not been as brisk as was expected and this slump is also explained by the constant rains. There is abundant desirable property on the market and the number of prospective buyers is apparently very large.

A large garage to cost between $10,000 and $12,000 will be erected by the Wamesit Power company at the corner of Watson and Whipple streets. The new structure will be built one story in height. The materials of construction will be steel and reinforced concrete. In size the building will be 155 feet, 10 inches front and 61 feet, 4 inches side. There is to be an all measuring 163 feet by 20 feet. The ell portion will be devoted to machine and repair work and will be thoroughly equipped for that purpose. There will be an elevator enclosed in concrete walls. The whole plan of the building indicates absolute fireproof quality. It will be steam heated.

Annette Stewart will construct a one apartment dwelling at the corner of Tenth and Beacon streets. The house will consist of six rooms, pantry and bath. It will be built of wood with a stone foundation and will be heated by steam. The cost is placed at $3500.

A building to be used as a coke handling plant will be erected by the Lowell Gas Light company in its yard at School and Rock streets. The building will have a steel frame and the remainder will be constructed of metal. Its cost will be approximately $5000.

A two apartment dwelling will be erected for William Lefebvre at 45 Midland street. It will be two and one-half stories in height and will measure 14 by 19 feet. The estimated cost is $3000.

The pantry in the house of Thomas H. Bines at 13 Third street will be changed over for a bathroom and new bath fixtures installed. A partition will be removed during the process of remodeling. The work is to cost about $100.

M. H. Wightman is building a store, age shed on Caslin street off Melton. It will be 29 feet square and one story in height. The cost is $75.

A garage will be built for Henry H. Beard on West Albert street in the rear of 809 Stevens street. It will be 14 by 16 feet.

Israel Nania is building a wagon shed in the rear of 123 Railroad street at a cost of $100.

A vestibule for the school at 120 Branch street, property of the parish of Notre Dame de Lourdes, is being built. The vestibule will have a floor of concrete and the estimated cost is $10.

Mrs. C. S. Bean is having a piazza built on her house at 63 Hastings street.

Charles H. Allen is building a two and one-half story addition to his house in Rolle street to provide extra rooms. The addition is to be constructed of brick. Cost is placed at $2000.

IRON RUST STAINS ON STUCCO

In the case of a stucco house the iron work in various places rusted and discolored the stucco. The owner wanted to know how to remove this rust from the stucco and wrote the Concrete-Cement Age in regard to it.

The question was discussed by two experts one of whom offered the following suggestions:

"If these stains are purely of surface discoloration, it should be possible to remove them with a wire brush; if in the contrary the entire thickness of the stucco has become stained, it will be necessary to put a cement wash to cover the spots, or to cut out the stained portions and put on new stucco."

The other expert suggested this procedure:

"A solution of hydrochloric acid and ammonium acid will remove iron rust from concrete, and will not injure the concrete if the treatment is administered with care and the face immediately washed with clean water. The solution mentioned has an affinity for carbonate of lime, consequently it should not be used where hydrated lime has been incorporated in the mixture. Rough finished cement stucco should be treated by spraying with the above solution and the result will be more thorough and the work more rapid than by the use of a brush."

"Very satisfactory results may also be obtained by diluting one of the commercial cement paints until it is thin enough to use in a spray pump, and painting the surface of the stucco by spraying the diluted paint upon it."

EXHIBITS OF HOME EQUIPMENT

Although the American citizen is reputed as a great traveler many people remain in ignorance of the comforts for their homes which they could readily enjoy. Some do not know because they do not leave home and others who travel do not come in contact with or see the equipment which they can readily afford for their own homes. This has been the occasion for the expenditure of considerable ingenuity in gathering together under proper conditions displays of building materials and equipment with a broadcast invitation to all people residing within convenient distance to visit the exhibition, so as to gain knowledge of the latest offerings of the market. There is still room for considerable enterprise in gathering displays of this character in a manner different from anything which has heretofore been done. It has been found profitable by some manufacturers to prepare a line of samples which can be transferred from one city to another and exhibited there, not only for the trade which purchases the goods but the general public as well may have a better opportunity to become familiar with them. There is a need of something more sweeping in the nature of an exhibit than is even thus afforded. In public building equipment this it would seem, should be supplied if a number of manufacturers whose products naturally overlap were to unite in carrying the market to the people.

REACHED THE LIMIT

Architect: "Now where would you prefer the drawing-room sir?"

Mr. Newlyrich: "Look here, young man, I've let you put up a smoking room, when I don't smoke; a music room, when I couldn't play a mouth organ; a nursery, when I don't want to nurse; and now you put the kitchen on the drawing room, when I don't even draw a straight line."—Building Age.

SKYSCRAPER IDEAS FOR LONDON

According to architect E. Vincent Harris of London, who has recently been visiting this country, New York skyscraper ideas are to be used in the proposed labor of commerce buildings in London, which is to be the tallest office structure in the English capital. The building is to be erected by the British government on the Thames embankment at a cost of about $3,750,000, and will be 19 stories in height which is permitted by the London ordinance, but in the present instance the authorities have made an exception. Mr. Harris came to United States to perfect various details in connection with the structure which will have elevators and various ventilating and heating appliances designed on American lines.

METAL CEILINGS

Before the present business depression, which has temporarily checked the extensive building operations that were under way in Rio de Janeiro, there was apparent a growing demand for metal ceilings which United States. Vice Consul Richard P. Mommery, of the largest moving picture theatre, the Cine Paris and the Parisienne, have metal ceilings, as well as some of the modern restaurants. Several local factories making other metal ware now offer to stamp metal for metal ceilings and interior walls. The sheet metal being obtained from the United States and England.

HOW TO LAY SHINGLES

One of our extreme western contemporaries prints the following instructions for laying shingles in order to prolong the life of the roof:

Wet the shingles thoroughly twenty-four hours before laying and use 3d. size, copper or galvanized nails. One nail in each shingle 4 in. in width or narrower and two nails in all shingles wider.

For one-third pitch roof lay 4 1/2 in. to the weather.

On the sides of building lay 6 in. to the weather.

Break all joints as far from the edges as possible.—Building Age.

MEDIAEVAL MASONRY

What the ancients accomplished in the way of masonry construction is a topic of never-ending interest among those architecturally inclined, and in the course of a lecture delivered by Banister Fletcher, not long since, at the Victoria and Albert Museum in London, there was presented a very graphic description of the evolution of rib-vaulting and supporting buttresses which has thrown such a glorious mantle of the roof-tracery and wall sculptures over the Gothic cathedrals of Europe. The weight of the building which had previously been distributed equally over supporting walls and columns, was now gathered up and brought down on to isolated supports and piers. This skillful design of mediaeval master masons was due, in large measure, to new conditions of labor and to the material at their disposal. Egyptians, Greeks and Romans built with huge blocks of stone or marble, with little mortar, till imperial Rome required enormous public buildings that could not be roofed by the old system. Then Roman necessity became the mother of the invention of concrete, which had such a cohesive quality that the vaults were almost self-supporting on the walls and columns. By another turn of the architectural wheel concrete fell into disuse, and there were no gangs of slaves to move huge, monolithic blocks, so a new system arose, fashioned out of small stones bound in thick beds of mortar.

Building became an experimental science of effectively balancing small stones on one another. Here we have the beginning of that thrust and counter-thrust which was so elaborately applied in piers, buttresses, etc., which gave their counter-thrust to the outward thrust of roof vault.

The use of small stones introduced a new problem in vaulting. In the Roman method great stones superimposed upon one another were at rest and rigid, in the Gothic system the building of small stones against one another produced a structure not at rest, but in equilibrium. Rigidity was replaced by elasticity. The old Roman building stood solid on the ground, the new Gothic structure soared lightly into the air. The pagan Pantheon at Rome, with its wonderful concrete dome, a single window, stand rigidly solid with its unbroken encircling wall.

The Christian cathedral of Rheims, in all propriety of lacework pinnacles, statues of kings, triple portals, and great stained-glass windows, soars aloft by buttresses and pier, but alas, the fortunes of war have left but a battered semblance of its former self.—Building Age.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

Those who have not yet seen Mary Pickford in her charming role, that of "Rags," will have a last opportunity at the performance given this afternoon and evening at the Merrimack Square theatre. All who can should see this her latest success. Never did "Little Mary" appear more charming than in this role which in every way suits her possibilities. One who has ever seen this little sister and everyone has at some time or other, can easily judge that in the role of a poor little motherless child she excels. The role of "Rags" has five acts. Tomorrow feature "Rags" Today is the day to see her, tomorrow is the day of wishing you had. Other delightful pictures are also included in today's performance such as the thrilling two act feature, "Beginning at the End." You will remember this picture for many a day. The comedy and the other pictures are also first class. It is the advice of the management that those who desire greatly to see Mary Pickford should come early because of the crowds. An excellent program of pictures has been arranged for the Sunday concert tomorrow.

D. F. KEITH'S THEATRE

Francis X. Bushman and Margaret Snow, appearing in "The Second in Command," at the D. F. Keith theatre today, for the final two times, are very popular in the motion picture world. Mr. Bushman was accorded the signal honor not long ago of having a day specially named for him at the Panama-Pacific exposition. He is the hero of the type of picture adapted for roles which require plenty of action, and his face has frequently been alluded to as that of a "Greek god." He may be slightly overcast, but the fact remains that he is a real matinee idol, and it is nothing uncommon for audiences to applaud him on his departure from the picture. "The Second in Command" provides for him a specially good vehicle. He is the junior officer of an English cavalry regiment, and as such he is called the colonel commanding, for both love the same girl. The colonel had known her first, and had caused her to agree to marry him, but she had broken him. But later, when she saw the second in command she fell very deeply in love. It remained for the colonel to look for his crown. He was his junior officer, but fate ruled otherwise and the junior returned to England and married the girl of his choice. The romantic story of the two charging cavaliers are shown in a later part of this feature. Tomorrow afternoon and evening special pictures will be presented, beginning with "The Flaming Sword" with Lionel Barrymore and Jane Grey in the leading roles, will be shown.

CANOBIE LAKE

The last performance of Ben Loring's Musical Revue will be given this evening and those who have not yet enjoyed this show, must not miss this offering should take advantage of this final show to enjoy it. While Canobie Lake Park theatre has been a great success since its opening, it is not in the least pretentious to state that Ben Loring's offering has far outdistanced the best of them both as regards variety and the making of the most interesting show.

The Sunday program at Canobie will offer something for every minute of the day and with fair weather will be a big crowd. The market is undoubtedly taxed to its capacity. In preparation for this the management will hold extra cars in readiness to handle the Lawrence Brass band from 3 to 5 o'clock. The program being offered for approval:

- 1—March, "Belphégor," Bressant
- 2—Overture, "Nabuccodonosor," Verdi
- 3—Popular Numbers, A—"It's a Tulip Time in Holland," Whiting
- 4—"My Little Dream Girl," Friedland
- 5—"It's a Long, Long Way to Tipperary," Judge
- 6—"Patrol" "The Blue and the Grey," Dalbey
- 7—Spanish Fantasia, "La Paloma," Jacobs Bond
- 8—Characteristic "The Whistler and his Dog," Pryor
- 9—Grand International Fantasia on "The Patriotic Songs of Two Continents," Robinson
- 10—Finale "Star Spangled Banner"

Champion Gains Per-

Permanent Possession of Longwood Bowl

BOSTON, Aug. 7.—Maurice E. McLoughlin of San Francisco, former national champion, yesterday defeated R. Norvis Williams 2nd of this city, the national champion, in a challenge match of Longwood lawn tennis singles, oldest tournament under club auspices in the United States. The score was 6-3, 6-3, 2-6, 6-2. Except in one set, McLoughlin was master of nearly every situation. Williams' method of procedure at the outset was to rush McLoughlin to such an extent that the Californian would be unable to get on his feet, but McLoughlin's defense was too good for him.

No important tennis match in the United States was ever played under worse conditions of weather and turf. A heavy rain fell during the afternoon and the heavy dew and rain made the court, often sprawling over the grass. McLaughlin's terrible forehand drives from back court were largely responsible for his victory. The game did not last long, for no lobbing and McLaughlin's net was the net more than a half a dozen times.

It was the first time that McLaughlin and Williams had met since the national championship tournament at Newport a year ago, when Williams won the national title from the California.

By yesterday's victory, McLoughlin secures permanent possession of the Longwood bowl, having previously won two legs on it.

MAINE CITIES AND MANCHESTER

MAY NOT BE WITH US

1908

The admission by Hugh Duffy of the Portland team that some representative of his, which is no doubt Secretary Daniels of the Portland club, has been looking over the field in Springfield, more color to the story that next season will see the amalgamation scheme go through. Tradition points to a league to be made of Worcester, Lawrence, Lowell and Lynn of the New England league at Springfield, Hartford, New Haven a branch of the Eastern association and more than one Boston. There would be Sunday ball in the Connecticut cities.

ABANDON ATTEMPT TO RAISE DESOLA

ST. JOHNS, N. F., Aug. 7.—Efforts to raise the British steamer Desola, which sank in the harbor here last winter, were finally abandoned this week. Divers sent down to examine the condition of the hull found that the sulphuric acid which had leaked from her cargo had so eaten away the plates that it would be impracticable to attempt to float the vessel. The wreck will be destroyed by dynamite.

The Desola which left New York for Plymouth, England, in December, 1914, with a cargo of sulphuric acid in steel drums, put in here because of leaks in the drums. Most of the cargo was discharged, the drums were repaired and all was repacked. The steamer started again on her voyage but the next day similar trouble developed and she returned. A third of the cargo was discharged and stored in a shed nine miles out of the city.

The leakage in the portion left aboard increased, the acid reached the hull, damaged the steam pipes and set the woodwork on fire. Shortly afterward the steamer sank, three feet of the hull above the main deck remaining above water. The acid continued to escape and discolored the water of the entire harbor surface. The portion of the cargo removed is steadily leaking into the ground and cannot be saved.

250 HOLYOKE CARMEN STRIKE

SPRINGFIELD, Aug. 7.—Street railway traffic in Holyoke and Amherst is completely paralyzed today by the strike of 250 employees of the Holyoke Street Railway Co. The men went out at 1.30 o'clock this morning following the breaking off of negotiations between the company and the men. Power workers are also out and company officials announced that no attempt would be made to run cars today.

Special trains to points north and south of Holyoke were run by the Boston & Maine railroad this morning. With the exception of a few licensed taxicabs of Holyoke no attempt was made to run jitneys as the city ordinances of Holyoke require a license by the board of aldermen and that body has adjourned until September. Five hundred night workers of the Fisk Rubber Co. of Chicopee Falls, who live in Holyoke, were sent to their homes in automobile trucks furnished by the Fisk company. The majority of people employed in Holyoke's business district walked to work and no disorder was reported by the police.

Commissioner Charles G. Wood of the state board of conciliation and arbitration has arranged a conference with the contending parties in Holyoke at 9.30 o'clock this morning.

SLEEPYTIME TALES

TINY TIM GOES BLUEBERRYING

Once upon a time, Tiny Tim, the smallest of all Gnomes, heard Nellie and Nettie say that the next day they were going blueberrying, and so he decided he would go with them. Of course you all know that no one ever sees the Gnomes or really knows when they are about, but if the Gnomes are with you everything happens just right.

The little girls started early and promised their mothers they would be home by noon with their pails full of berries. Tiny Tim trotted along behind them, and when they turned into the pasture where the berries were, he made them go farther to another lot where he knew the berries were larger and thicker. Then he helped them both to fill their pails so that long before noon they had all they could carry and were on their way home.

When their mothers saw what large berries they had and so many they said to the children: "I guess the Gnomes must have helped you and we will have to make some extra pies for them." The girls set a table under the trees and very soon the little pies were baked and the children ready for a blueberry pie party. They had tiny sandwiches, nice cold lemonade and ever so many blueberry pies.

Nellie's mother told her laughingly, that she had really made a pie for the Gnomes and had left it on the pantry windowsill to cool. Now Tiny Tim had been listening and he decided he must have that pie, so he crept into the pantry, ate up all of the pie and threw the dish out of the window.

When Nellie's mother came in she went to the pantry, saw that the pie was gone and what surprised her most, that the plate was also gone, and she still thinks that pussy was to blame for the disappearance of the pie.

REVERE CITY FATHERS HELD ON GRAFT CHARGE

Five Members Indicted by Grand Jury on Charge of Receiving Gratuities for Licenses

BOSTON, Aug. 7.—Five members of the city council of Revere, B. Sias, J. L. Dalzell, R. J. Sullivan, W. W. Gordon and Jacob Mendoza, were indicted today by the grand jury on a charge of receiving gratuities for granting licenses to junk dealers. All pleaded not guilty. Jacob Romberg entered a similar plea to an indictment alleging the giving of the gratuities. According to the indictments the amount paid by three junkmen was $200.

GO-BETWEEN "SQUEELED"

BOSTON, Aug. 7.—Admissions by the go-between and one member of the council are alleged to have shown that five of the nine members of the city council of Revere are involved in the junk-license graft which Assistant District Attorney Thomas D. Lavelle has been investigating the past week. The go-between and one member of the council yesterday told all they knew, and will be used as witnesses for the government at the trial of the others. The grand jury took up the graft case yesterday afternoon and heard a number of witnesses, including the two men who have confessed.

The confession of the two came as a big surprise. Earlier in the week Asst. Dist. Atty. Lavelle had a number of persons whose names had been mentioned in the case at his office and questioned them. Three junkmen said they paid $200 to a man in Revere for the purpose of obtaining licenses, having been told that unless they paid the money their petitions would be refused. Two of the junkmen paid $75 each and the third paid $50. The matter came to official notice when the three junkmen complained to Mayor Curtis of Revere that they had been told they would have to give up $150 in addition to the $200 or they could not receive their licenses.

BIG SEMI PROF. GAME

KIMBALL SYSTEM AND C. M. A. C. CLASH AT SPALDING PARK TODAY

An added attraction of the Kimball System, C. M. A. C. game at Spalding park this afternoon, which undoubtedly helped out the gate receipts materially was the fact that Old Sol gave a free exhibition at the grounds before and during the game. It being that gentleman's first public appearance in over two weeks. He was royally welcomed by the rosters who had missed him sorely.

Then it was the first time that the fans have had an opportunity to see any kind of a game this week, for all outdoor sports have been "under the weather," and even if the weather had been propitious the Lowell team was out of town all week and hence there had been no chance to see a game anywhere.

Furthermore it was the rubber game between two rivals, the Kimballs and the C. M. A. C.'s, and a rubber always draws a crowd to rubber.

With a spirit of neutrality that would gladden the heart of President Wilson, the promoters of the game decided on what the lawyers would call a "change of venue" as regards the game for they went to Lawrence, Mass., to import Billy O'Neil, the manager of the Centipedes of that city, a semi-professional team that vies with the Kimballs and the C. M. A. C.'s for speed.

O'Neil didn't care which team won. Bobbie Keeler had been mentioned for the job and likewise Mike Mahoney but they were not available. Several near-universes who wanted the job probably were disappointed but as neither side knew O'Neil, his name was generally acceptable.

By agreement all ringers were barred and hence the formidable bunch of ex-leaguers that lined-up in the Kimball-Lawrence game was conspicuous by their absence, and only regulars were in uniform. Today's papers announced that Paul Clark would catch for the P. and Q. South Ends against the Lawrence Independents, in that city, but Paul was on deck at Spalding park today. E. L. Kimball, manager of the Kimball System team, came onto the field with the new mascot, a turtle, on whose back was painted in vivid yellow, "Mascot, Kimball System Team," and it was announced that the painting was done by the Kimball system. "Roundie" Roane was appointed official keeper of the turtle. During the preliminary practice James Munn, Lowell's new first baseman, appeared on the field and warmed up with the boys. While it was understood that there were no ringers on either team, one's suspicion would be aroused upon finding the names of Schombom and Sullivan in the lineup of the French club.

The teams lined up as follows:
KIMBALLS C. M. A. C.
Cashman, 1b ss, Schombom
Buckley, 2b cf, Lebourdais
H. White, cf lf, Little
Clark, c 2b, Chinardi
Duffy, 3b 1b, Sullivan
W. White, 3b lf, Crowe
Duffy, 1b 3b, Hubert
Smith ss 1b, Dragon
Cook p p, Paulist

The game was started shortly after 3 o'clock with the Kimballs at bat and they started to put the game on ice right off the reel getting four runs before the third man had been out, and eight men going in in the first inning. The first man up hit a grounder to Hubert and Hubby made a wild throw over first base. Cashman went to second on a passed ball. Schombom who could not get to first and was out. Sullivan went to third and Buckley, making second on the muff. H. White hit a hot grounder to Schombom who could not get to first and was out. Then another hit in line and Cashman scored. A passed ball brought Buckley to third base. Clark hit a hot one at Schombom who could not handle it. Buckley scored. Jimmy Grant came through with a pretty single to right field scoring Herb White. W. White hit to Schombom who threw to first to get Clark but Paul beat the ball out. Duffy hit a red hot line drive at Casillard who caught it and threw to third for a double play. Smith hit a grounder to Hubert and died at first.

But the Kimballs' four runs didn't look big at all after the C. M. A. C. piled their hits on the Kimballs. Kimball presented young "Doc" Cook, a product of Billerica, who looked very formidable in a Howe school uniform but after he had been given a base on balls and allowed three hits all in the short space of less than one inning he was given his passports to Billerica and Smith went in to pitch for the Kimballs while Jimmy Grant went to short stop and Falls went out to right field. Nine men went to bat. The C. M. A. C. Schombom hit to Smith and got first on his bat throw. He stole second and got third on a passed ball. Lebourdais got hit and Clark hit a red hot line drive to right field scoring Schombom. Lebourdais scored on a passed ball. Cook got single. Hubert singled to right scoring Sullivan. He then stole second. Dragon drew his base on balls, filling them up. At this point Cook was taken out. He had a reward of a first and the stitches came out. Polist hit to Smith forcing Crowe at the plate.

The second inning was another slaughter. The Kimballs getting four more. Paulist went out of the game. Falls opened with a single and stole second. Cashman got first on an error by Hubert. Buckley bunted to the pitcher who tried to catch a man on third and was too late. Then another error by Hubert, a wild pitch, and a single by Grant brought in four runs altogether and Polist went out of the game. Paul Little taking his place on the mound. Lebourdais went to left field and Marchand to center. Then W. White struck out and Duffy died out to Marchand. In the C. M. A. C.'s half, the Kimballs settled right down to business and the batters went out in order. Schombom walked and was caught trying to steal second. Lebourdais fled out to Buckley and Little hit to Smith and died at first. In the third Smith struck out. Falls died out to Hubert and Cashman hit to Hubert and died at first.

GEN. CARRANZA AGREES TO PEACE CONFERENCE

Brief Filed With Sec. Lansing Also Asks Recognition—Authoritative Announcement of Views of the U. S. to Bring About Peace in Mexico

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7.—The Mexican situation moved forward today with two important developments. General Carranza signed his "will" to meet his adversaries in a peace conference and an authoritative announcement was made of the views which the United States is approaching the problem in the Pan-American conference. The position of the United States was officially stated as follows:

That neither Carranza nor any other military faction in Mexico is in control of the country or can be considered as triumphant in the republic.

That the real purpose of the revolution was accomplished a year ago when Huerta was overthrown, and that the strife which has continued since has been over factional differences and has not been in reality a revolution.

That it considers General Villa, while financially weakened, still an active element in Mexican affairs, who must be reckoned with in an adjustment. That the so-called centrifists do not enter into the problem now because it is considered that the overthrow of Huerta disposed of that element.

That the greater portion of Mexico is not at peace, as General Carranza claims, because fighting continues in many sections from Tehuantepec to the Rio Grande and from Vera Cruz to Mazatlan.

That the first problem to be solved in restoration of peace is to find for provisional president a man who represents the cause of the original revolution against Huerta but who does not necessarily represent any of the factions now at war.

This outline is the first authoritative statement of the basis upon which the United States is proceeding. General Carranza's brief, filed with the state department by his American counsel, Charles A. Douglas, not only proposes a peace conference with his adversaries, but practically asks recognition.

Asks Political Recognition. On behalf of Gen. Carranza, a formal brief on the Mexican situation was filed with Secretary Lansing today, virtually asking for political recognition and proposing that Carranza's Washington agents meet any of the other factions in a peace conference.

The brief submitted by Charles A. Douglas, Gen. Carranza's American consul, sets forth the formal suggestion of a peace conference in the following language: "We have in Washington Mr. Arredondo, in the capacity of a special representative of the constitutional government and, at this time, Mr. Cabrera, a member of Mr. Carranza's cabinet is here. Either, or both of them, I am assured, will be glad to confer with any element of the Mexican people, with a view to furthering the peace and the welfare of the nation."

The proposal to restore the constitutional succession to the presidency where it was broken by the death of Madero by elevating Vasquez Tagle, a member of the Madero cabinet to the office of provisional president, the brief says, would defeat the aims of the revolution.

"The plan of the constitutionalists," says the brief, "and it is well under way, is to make the principles of the revolution effects as war measures by military decrees during the extra-constitutional period and then to have the congress ratify them—translate them into law."

It is argued that Tagle is neither impartial nor fitted for the office and that his recognition could only be based on the theory of cabinet succession. His qualification would instantly and automatically restore the constitution.

"If the constitution is in this manner restored," says Gen. Carranza's brief, "it would effectively prevent the putting into effect of the principles of the revolution."

The argument contends there has been no member of the Madero cabinet since Pedro Lascurain who could legally assume the office.

"Assuming," the brief continues, "that Tagle is technically legally in the line of succession, it cannot be hoped that he can be provisional president in fact unless he has support. When the revolution has triumphed so far as to have with it more than 30 per cent of the Mexican people, can it reasonably be expected that one not an active, thorough revolutionist will have the loyal support even of a respectable minority of the Mexican people—and would this support be weaker or stronger if he be installed into office at a time and under circumstances that would bring about surely the defeat of the principles for which the revolution is fought?"

"If the facts I have endeavored to marshal are accurately stated, and I believe them to be, then the constitutionalist government is entitled to recognition in the interest of law and order."

Figures and argument are presented outlining the aims of the revolution on agrarian reform, religious liberty, popular education, municipal self government and the workings of the law. Other statistics were presented to show the extent of Gen. Carranza's control of more than half the territory and nine-tenths of the people and the progress of pacification in the wake of Carranza's armies. Legal precedents to warrant the recognition of Gen. Carranza are cited. Precedents were found as far back as the recognition of Benito Juarez who overthrew Maximilian.

After an outline of Gen. Carranza's qualifications the brief says he admits Mexico can scarcely prosper without the cooperation of the United States.

The proposal of a conference came as a surprise not only to officials who have been led to believe that Gen. Carranza was irrevocably opposed to any further parleys with his adversaries.

THE UNLUCKY NUMBER IN POLICE COURT TODAY

Docket of Thirteen Disposed of by Judge Fisher—More Thorns From Primrose Hill

An unlucky number of alleged law-breakers—13—faced Associate Justice Fisher in the local court this morning. This did not change the luck of Acting Assistant Clerk Toye's cash box, however, for $55 in fines were paid by those whose names comprised the unlucky list. The charges constituted drunkenness, assault and battery, carrying baseball pool tickets, non-support and trespassing.

After being defaulted for skipping his bail while a complaint charging assault and battery upon his wife Mary was pending and keeping out of reach of the law for about three weeks, William J. Carney was picked up on the street yesterday and taken to the police station to face the music. He

J. N. GREGOIRE AND MRS. GREGOIRE ATTENDED CONVENTION OF CATHOLIC FORESTERS

J. N. Gregoire, chief ranger of Court St. Antoine, C. O. F., returned this morning from Providence, R. I., where he attended the biennial convention of the Catholic Order of Foresters.

There were 244 delegates present from all parts of the states and Canada not including the officers of the high court. The convention opened Tuesday at Elks' hall and was brought to a close Thursday evening. Among the delegates were 16 priests, five of whom were from Wisconsin, while the others came mostly from Canada.

The Lowell delegate, who represented Courts St. Antoine and St. Paul, served on the committee on appeals and he is much pleased with the results of the session. The re-election of Simon Viger of Lawrence as high vice chief ranger also pleased him. Mr. Gregoire will report the doings of the convention at the regular meeting of Court St. Antoine on Aug. 18 and at Court St. Paul on Aug. 19. Mrs. Gregoire accompanied her husband to the convention, for arrangements had been made to receive the wives and friends of the delegates. The next convention will be held in 1918 at Duluth, Minn.

SWEDEN TO REMAIN NEUTRAL

LONDON, Aug. 7, 2.22 p. m.—Sweden's decision to remain neutral, in a firm as ever, was the reply today of the Swedish minister in London, Count Wrangel, to rumors published in the London newspapers this morning of the possible participation of the Scandinavian kingdom in the war.

"There is no foundation for the rumors," the minister said, "and the suggestion that Sweden contemplates action for recovery of Finland is absurd. Premier Sazonoff's speech in the Russian duma on Sunday clearly indicates the relations between Sweden and Russia are of the most friendly nature."

WERE HARD HIT BY STORM FICTION READ IN SUMMER

Hay, Strawberries, Corn and Other Things Suffer From July Rains

No Books About War Wanted—Library Notes Decided Preference for Light Stories

Though New England's July hay crop has been ruined 50 per cent by the wet weather, the farmers have, fortunately, sustained smaller losses in other lines. The rains and lack of sun have, of course, somewhat retarded the growth of all products, but, with the exception of the late strawberry crop, the general losses have been nearer 10 per cent than 50.

Strawberry growers were hard hit. It is estimated that in Massachusetts alone the loss in strawberries has been close to 70 per cent, and reports received at the state board of agriculture from other sections of New England show that the loss in other states has been about the same.

The loss is figured for the entire crop, of which considerably more than half is of late berries. The loss to growers in this line has been close to $350,000. Next in point of losses comes the oat crop. The heavy rains and winds have beaten this down all over New England, making it extremely difficult to harvest. The loss in oats should be the season for the oat harvest, but this year, unless there is a sudden change in weather, this will have to be delayed, with a probable increase in losses as a result. Officials of the board of agriculture yesterday estimated the loss in the oat crop at from 20 to 25 per cent in other words, a loss close to $1,000,000 worth of product.

Though the corn has been beaten down generally, the loss, it is believed, will not be very great, certainly not more than 20 per cent of the total crop and probably very much less. Corn thrives even though smashed down; but the big difficulty in handling it will come at harvest time.

Beaten corn, like beaten oats, is difficult to handle, and at this point a considerable loss will be sustained. The tremendous rains and lack of sun will also tend to make this year's corn crop rather yellow and not of the very highest quality.

Wind and rain is causing the un-ripened peaches to fall from the trees in large numbers. It is pointed out by officials of the state board, the fall of peaches may not materially affect the value of the crop. It is a general practice of peach growers to thin out their crops anyway. In order to get fruit of larger size and better quality. It is especially true of peach trees that they produce more fruit than they can well care for.

It is pointed out that, while the additional thinning due to windfalls may mean less peaches in the end, the whole crop will probably be worth as much because of the larger size and better quality of the fruit.

Apples and pears have not suffered a great deal, as they stick to the branches. It takes a small tornado to cause much damage to the apples at this season of the year.

There has been of course a general loss in all lines of garden produce, especially in sections where the gardens are on flat and low land, or in gullies. Some of the farthest north of Boston are now really turned to bogs and the vegetables are under water. There has been a considerable loss to onions in this way. For New England, as a whole, however, the garden crops have been little damaged.

The following is a table of values of New England crops affected by or in danger from wet weather:

	Corn	Potatoes
Maine	$434,334	$10,224,714
N. Hampshire	621,396	1,204,626

GOOD DAY FOR OUTINGS

OLD SOL WELCOMED BY PICNICERS—OUTING AT REVERE BEACH AND NAHANT

Although Jupiter Pluvius continued to stay with us until quite late this morning, his presence did not in the least disparage the employees of the Silesia Worsted mills of North Chelmsford, who had set today as the date of their annual outing, and the affair was held as scheduled. Two special cars being run from Merrimack square at 7 o'clock for Revere beach.

Shortly after 8 o'clock the sun came out, and the rather unusual sight was hailed with cheers by the merry-makers. The arrival at the beach was made about 10 o'clock, and a dip in the briny was immediately indulged in, after which an enjoyable spontaneous shore dinner was followed by a long list of sports was carried out, and the winners of the various events were awarded suitable prizes. The attractions along the beach were visited and a good part of the time was spent trying out the tumbling devices in the "Pit," while dancing was also enjoyed. The employees will make the return trip early this evening.

Plumbers at Bass Point—One car loaded with members of the Master Plumbers association left the square shortly after 7 o'clock this morning for Bass Point, where a day full of enjoyment was spent by the party. In the morning a baseball game was played between the married and single men, and bathing was enjoyed. At noon a shore dinner was served, and the afternoon was spent in a long list of sporting events, in which the members showed remarkable athletic ability. The plumbers will return early this evening.

The Jolly Four Club

The Jolly Four club, composed of several prominent young people of North Chelmsford held its annual outing at Revere today, and a special car took a party headed by Victoria Coulombe to the same resort. Another special party in charge of E. V. Stewart left the square at 11 o'clock for Revere, and the members of the Millmen's union conducted their annual outing at Middlesex village. A number of outings were postponed.

St. Patrick's School Alumni

The committee in charge of the outing to be held under the auspices of St. Patrick's school alumni, met last evening at the school hall and completed arrangements for the event, which will be held tomorrow rain or shine. A varied list of sports has been arranged and suitable prizes will be awarded the winners.

The Lowell Cadet band will be in attendance and will give a concert on the outing grounds in the afternoon. The following committees have been appointed to look after arrangements: J. J. Flannery and J. J. Hanlon, transportation; Osmund and Bro. Benjamin, grounds; C. R. Griffin and J. P. Golden, catering; J. J. Giblin and J. J. Hennessy, entertainment; J. J. Givran, J. J. Molloy, J. A. O'Brien, J. F. Stapleton and P. P. Delmore, sports; J. P. Golden is chairman of the general committee and E. J. Flannery is secretary.

SPRINGFIELD, Aug. 7.—Officials of the Holyoke Street Railway Co. and the Trolley-men's union of that city were summoned to a public hearing in the Holyoke city hall today by Chas. G. Wood of the state board of arbitration and conciliation to be examined as to the causes of the controversy which caused the strike of 250 employees of the company early this morning.

The hearing was held at nine o'clock this morning and was still in session at an early hour this afternoon. More than 500 people were present.

John H. Reardon, member of the executive committee of the Amalgamated Street Railway Employees' association said that drastic action was necessary and that as sovereign citizens of Massachusetts they did not purpose to let even the state of Massachusetts interfere with their God-given rights.

A special meeting of the Holyoke board of aldermen was called this afternoon for the purpose of granting licenses to scores of jitney drivers. No attempt was made to run cars today.

If the directors of the Holyoke St. Ry. Co. wish to accept the good offices of the state board of arbitration the strike of the 250 employees of the company will end tonight. The trolley-men voted to submit their differences to arbitration at the close of a public hearing this afternoon and the company officials have until 3 o'clock to reach a decision. The directors are now in session.

THREE MEXICAN OUTLAWS KILLED

BROWNSVILLE, Tex., Aug. 7.—Fighting three against twenty, three Mexican outlaws were killed by a posse last night at a farm house about 30 miles north of here. One posse man was slightly wounded. The fight lasted not more than 10 seconds.

In view of the European conflict one would naturally suppose there would be a great demand at the public library for books about the war. But Librarian Chase says that comparatively few of these books are asked for or taken out. Fiction, of the other hand, is in great demand. Eighty per cent, perhaps, of the volumes that go out of the library throughout the summer are stories—love stories, adventure stories, human interest stories—and nearly always fiction pictured on a high moral plane.

There are a great many popular books for which people ask that their names be placed on the waiting list or reservation, such books, for instance, as "Polyanna Grows Up," by Eleanor Porter. Its title is an indication of its contents, very light and airy, interesting and amusing. Books of this nature go mostly to young people, of course, and seem to indicate that romance is the pronounced characteristic of human nature. The romances of today, however, are of a more substantial quality than came from the authors a few years ago say the library people.

But it is interesting to note that books of the war have very little call, notwithstanding that the library has some choice volumes along this line. Not even narrative stories of the war like that by Fritz Kreisler entitled "Four Weeks in the Trenches" receive much attention. On the other hand, books which have to do with a peaceful solution of the world's affairs do not go unrec'd in spite of the decided preference for fiction. Books, also, which call attention to economic injustice, to the ever increasing gap between the rich and the poor, to inequality, industrial despotism, the existence of poverty in the midst of opulence and the strain on the social order, receive some consideration. Especially is this true if the message is presented in the form of fiction.

The library has a number of books relating to California and the western states and it was believed there would be a great demand for these because of the travel to the exposition. Little demand has been made for them, however, and Librarian Chase thinks the small demand is due to the fact that very few Lowell people have taken in or intend to take in the exposition. There is a great call, however, for western stories in novel form.

The age of a book of fiction does not interfere with its popularity. Among the novels most in demand are some written years ago by Ralph Connor. Some of these old books keep bobbing in and out of the library at such a rate that several new copies of them must be purchased every little while.

Some Recent Additions

Among the recent additions, in fiction, at the Lowell public library are the following:

Reggie, H. Millstone.
Chambers, R. W., Athlete.
Wales, H., The Brocklebank Riddle.
Wells, H. G., The Wife of Sir Isaac Harman.

LYNN'S WOODEN POLICEMAN

Lynn has a wooden policeman with a punch in either fist on duty today at Washington street and Nahant road, on the Lynn-Nahant line.

The policeman is a red wooden post, set in cement and mounted on a spring like a punching bag so that if it is knocked over by a careless autoist it will fly back into position, perhaps battering the paint of the offending machine.

Lack of enough six-foot traffic policemen to control careless automobile drivers had been puzzling Chief Burkes.

Trade Officer Charles Humphries, stationed in Central square suggested that it might be a good idea to set up a wooden "policeman." The chief told Humphries to go ahead, and after 8 hours' work he turned out a new device. On the post, in white letters is the command, "Keep to the Right." The device is placed outside the curb.

GERMANS WELCOMED AS LIBERATORS

BERLIN, Aug. 7, via London, Aug. 7, 3 p. m.—The German troops were welcomed to undamaged Warsaw as liberators according to the report forwarded to Berlin by Kurt Aram, a special correspondent of the Lokal Anzeiger. Telegraphing under date of August 5, Aram places emphasis on the statement that the city was not evacuated without a conflict. The forts were protected by barbed wire, trenches, pitfalls and mines against infantry attacks. The city is not mentioned as having been damaged.

The inhabitants of the Polish capital, the correspondent says, filled the streets and welcomed the in-marching troops with every sign of enthusiasm and rejoicing. The streets were richly beflagged. The Polish peasants, who long had been restrained in the city, began leaving in the early morning for their farms, driving their livestock and conveying their household effects, and they greeted the Germans with tears of joy.

The Warsaw correspondent of the Berliner Tageblatt confirms the report that the German troops met with a joyous reception. The streets, he says, were filled with Poles, Jews, Germans and Russians, who waved their hats joyfully to the German soldiers. Many of the inhabitants even were standing in the vicinity of the castle, although an infantry battle with the Russians was proceeding on the east of the building.

The electric street cars were running as usual, the correspondent says, and almost all the shops were opened. Very little damage had been done in the city proper. The earthworks about the forts show the German artillery made many fair hits.

The correspondent at Ivangorod of the Lokal Anzeiger points out that the occupation of that fortress in itself is less important than the fact that it makes possible an important increase of concentric pressure on the Russian troops in South Poland. The offensive of the armies of Archduke Joseph Ferdinand and Field Marshal von Mackensen, he adds, continues northward and the effect on the yet unchanged East Galician front is likely soon to make itself felt.

FORT DEMBE CAPTURED BY GERMANS

EDWARD H. HOYT DEAD

Ex-Representative Was Prominent in Electrification of Railway Lines—Funeral on Monday

HAVERHILL, Aug. 7.—Ex-Representative Edward H. Hoyt, prominent for many years in Massachusetts and later in the United States, died at his home in Haverhill today. He was 70 years of age. RUSSIAN FORCES FLEE TO ESCAPE GERMAN PINGERS

Kaiser's Troops Invade Russian Territory for an Average Depth of 100 Miles Along Front From Baltic to Bukowina — Defenders Surrender Vistula—London Paper Hints Sweden May Join Teutons—Greece Holding Out Against Allies

LONDON, Aug. 7, 1915. p. m.—Holding the bridge heads at Warsaw over the Vistula river, the most formidable military obstacle in eastern Europe, Germany and Austria-Hungary have conquered the river line and with it invaded Russian territory for an average depth of 100 miles along a front from the Baltic to Bukowina, are now throwing their forces forward in an endeavor to accomplish what Russia's allies have so feared—the complete envelopment of the Russian armies.

The British press, basing its opinions on Petrograd despatches and the lack of reports to the contrary from either Berlin or Vienna, is inclined to the view that the forces of Grand Duke Nicholas, reformed from Warsaw virtually intact, but there is an increasing disposition not to minimize the seriousness of the situation as it is still exists and the anxiety of the quadruple powers seems to be manifested in renewed pressure to bring the Balkan states in line on the side of the entente powers.

Sweden May Enter War

Quiescent Sweden is now restless and conservative a newspaper as the London Morning Post, finds cause for comment in Sweden's growing hostility to Russia as stimulated by German success in Poland.

Greece Refuses to Cede Territory

Whether the present Balkan negotiations will be more fruitful from the entente standpoint than previous attempts to align these states against Germany and Turkey is debatable, especially so as Greece, according to an Athens despatch quoting Premier Constantine's refusal to consider the relinquishing of any territory to Bulgaria, a concession which might clear the situation.

Russia Holds Novo Georgievsk

Though still holding Novo Georgievsk the whole Russian garrison remains at bay. Thus the Russian armies not only are menaced back of the Warsaw salient from which it were assumed they were not entirely clear before heavy German forces broke across the Vistula to the southeast of Warsaw; but a larger and more formidable enveloping movement has taken definite form, being in effect a greater pair of pincers aiming at Dvinsk in the north and at Brest-Litovsk in the south and superimposed on a smaller pair which sought and still seeks to crush the Russian forces in and around Warsaw.

There is the chance that the grip of the smaller pair may not be effective, and it will take some time to demonstrate whether the more ambitious movement succeeds.

SUMMARY OF TODAY'S WAR NEWS

The threat of danger to the Russian troops who evacuated Warsaw and are supposed to be still making their way eastward into Russia seems to be greatest from the north.

Real Menace to Russians

The advance of the German forces in the territory southwest of Dvinsk is set forth at considerable detail in news despatches from London and this military movement, supported by railroad connections from Lissa and Shavli, constitutes, in the opinion of British observers, a real menace to the forces of Grand Duke Nicholas.

Russians Evacuating Kovno

An indication of the extent of the German progress in the Baltic provinces of Russia is found in a despatch from Copenhagen which says that the city of Kovno, some 30 miles to the west of Vilna, is being evacuated by the Russian municipal officials as well as by the civilian population. Furthermore, Riga, at the mouth of the river Dvina, is expected to pass to German possession at any time.

Greece Holding Out

News despatches from Athens indicate that Greece is holding out against the allies in their evident effort to win this country, a key to the entire Balkan situation, to their side. The adherence of Bulgaria and Rumania is dependent largely on the attitude of Greece.

Italians Take Monte San Michele

Italian forces are reported to have captured Monte San Michele on the Austrian frontier, a position which threatens Gorizia.

Six Fishing Boats Sunk

Six British fishing boats have been sunk by a German submarine and a Danish steamer got on fire.

The official statement of the French war office recites the continuance of hand grenade fighting and artillery exchanges. The engagements with grenades were very spirited in the Argonne, and a German attack on Hill No. 213 was repulsed.

Sweden to Remain Neutral

The rumor in London that Sweden might take part in the war, fighting against Russia, has brought a statement from the Swedish minister in the British capital that Sweden's determination to remain neutral is as firm as ever.

The French Maid Says:

Buying a Panama Hat

"I am going to have a Panama hat," said Marjorie thoughtfully. "What kind are you going to get?" "I am sure I don't know," said Marjorie thoughtfully. "What would you suggest?"

"All Panamas are nice," said Marjorie, "and they are likely to continue to be the ideal hat for midsummer, owing to their softness and for traveling. It is soft enough to be comfortable, and uncrushable and firm enough to need no support. It is made with the crown and for shading the eyes as to the brim."

The hat that is dearest to the hearts of lovers of the Panama is that which keeps as close as possible to the original Panamanian shape of a variation that does not seem to change its character. These hats are usually trimmed very simply with bands of silk or ribbon or linen. They resist the heat in a wide silk or ribbon band, and are not to be improved upon. The wide brimmed shape are sometimes swathed with maline and lined with blue, have of the style. Occasionally flowers or feathers adorn them.

The fine South American panama is well cared for, will stand many washings and is a favorite with many. It is better to sew hat fasteners in the hat and secure it to the head in this way.

It seems a pity to wear out a hat, the making of which involves such painstaking and wonderful work, by using a hat pin. In a fine hat it is better to sew hat fasteners in the hat and secure it to the head in this way.

$4100 IN LOOT FOUND

R. & M. TRAINMEN ACCUSED OF ROBBERIES—WHOLESALE LOOTING OF FREIGHT CARS ALLEGED

BOSTON, Aug. 7.—By the arrest of two brakemen and a conductor in the employ of the Boston & Maine railroad yesterday, the police and railroad officials believe that they have cleared up the wholesale looting of freight cars at the Boston terminal.

According to an official of the railroad, during the last 12 months goods to the value of nearly $40,000 have been stolen from the freight cars at the Boston terminal.

The arrested men, Fred Bird of 25 Princeton street, South Medford, and Guy A. Austin of 19 Stevenson avenue, Everett, both brakemen, and E. A. Spaine of 140 Sherman street, North Cambridge, a freight conductor, are charged with a horde of goods valued at $4100.

Henry Bornstein of 157 Causeway street was also arrested charged with receiving stolen goods to the value of $1100.

Patrolman William Anderson of the Hanover street station working in conjunction with Sergeant Officer Thomas J. Sheridan of the North station and Detective Patrick J. Sullivan of the road, made the arrests after weeks of persistent work. They recovered $4100 worth of railroad tools, shoes and wools and a large box of goods stolen by the three men and bought by Bornstein.

Enlisted men will wear olive drab uniforms, with campaign hat, olive drab shirt, russet leather marching shoes, and will carry blanket, poncho, shelter half with poles and pins, and have extra shoes, two pairs of extra socks, a change of underclothing, and toilet articles. Those wishing to avail themselves to the privilege of bathing, will bring bathing suits. The officers will wear field service uniform, with sabres and full field equipment, including message book, compass, watch, whistle and field glasses.

ALL CALLERS QUESTIONED

MRS. WHITMAN, WIFE OF NEW YORK GOVERNOR, IS THREATENED—GUARDS AT HOME

MRS. WHITMAN

Guards patrolled the grounds of Governor Whitman's summer home at Newport, R. I., and other guards are on duty inside the house as the result of threatening letters received by Mrs. Whitman. All the threatening letters were postmarked Newport. Mrs. Whitman refused to say whether they related to the latter case. It is believed, however, that the letters were sent to a blind and that the communications were not the result of any local feeling. Mrs. Whitman, with the two children, has been staying here in the Whitman summer cottage, which is situated near the coast guard life saving station. All callers now are put through a rigid examination before they are permitted to enter the grounds, and any one who cannot give a satisfactory reason for his presence is ordered away under threat of arrest. One man is reported to have been arrested for talking to act as a bodyguard for Mrs. Whitman wherever she goes. The executive mansion in Albany was guarded similarly in the closing days of the Becker case because of threatening letters received by the governor.

TWO MURDERERS HANGED IN PUBLIC

STARKVILLE, Miss., Aug. 7.—Peter Bolen and Jim Seales, negroes, convicted of killing another negro, were hanged in public here yesterday. The gallows was built in a natural amphitheatre which afforded the crowd of several thousand, including many women, an unobstructed view of the hangings. At the request of the doomed men, the crowd sang the hymns "There is a Land of Pure Delight" just before the traps were sprung. Soft drink and candy vendors sold their wares among the crowd while it waited for the executions.

GERMAN SUBMARINES SCOUR THE SEAS FOR ADRIATIC WITH RECORD WAR CARGO ABOARD

THE ADRIATIC SAILING & LOADING HER WITH WAR MUNITIONS

It is known that German submarines searched the seas for the White Star liner Adriatic which sailed for Europe with a record cargo for the allies. The decks of the ship were covered fore and aft with war material. This material included fifty aeroplanes in cases and 200 motor trucks. She had 16,500 tons of war munitions in her hold and 288 passengers, of whom 110 were American mechanics on their way to London. The Adriatic was to have sailed at noon, but rain delayed the loading of her cargo. Before the ship left her pier every motor truck was examined by detectives hired by the company, and the cargo was carefully watched before being lowered in the hold. Here more detectives were on duty to see that the cargo was not tampered with before the hatches were put on. All baggage was opened on the pier and none but passengers were allowed on board the ship. One of the officials of the pier said the Adriatic had the largest cargo of war munitions that had been taken out of this port. As the ship moved out into the river firemen climbed on top of the aeroplanes cases and shouted to their friends on the pier that there would be plenty of boats if they were torpedoed.

BAN ON "GRASS WIDOWS"

POSTOFFICE DEPT. IN ANNOUNCE-
ING CIVIL SERVICE EXAMINA-TION MAKES DEFINITE RULE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7.—No "grass widow" need apply for any job in the gift of the postmaster general. This is the decree filed yesterday in the announcement of a competitive examination for Oct. 2 by the United States civil service commission. The clause covering this feature of eligibility and desirability is too strict to admit of misconception, so the matrimonially dissatisfied must either turn to the courts for a divorce decree or seek other fields of human endeavor to pay the bills of the butcher, the baker and modern dressmaker. Elizabeth Sam has decided to leave one loophole for the near-widow by placing her in the eligible list once she obtains a divorce.

MALDEN'S HIGHEST TAX

MAYOR ATTRIBUTES $22.50 RATE
TO INCREASED STATE AND DE-
CREASED CORPORATION TAX

MALDEN, Aug. 7.—The highest tax rate in the city's history, $22.50, was announced yesterday afternoon, an increase of $1.90 since 1914.

Mayor William M. Blackley said last night: "The increase in the state tax and the falling off of the corporation tax are two pretty good reasons why the citizens of Malden will be forced to pay the highest tax in the history of the city this year. 'I have tried to make my administration an economic one. I have, perhaps sent in more votes on appropriations and increases in salaries than any other mayor in the city's history. Scores of such orders and appropriations have been passed over my veto.'"

ON LARCENY CHARGE

REGINALD P. TRACY, CREDIT MAN-AGER OF WESTERN ELECTRIC
CO., ARRESTED

BOSTON, Aug. 7.—Reginald P. Tracy of Marlborough road, West Roxbury, nine years credit manager of the Western Electric company of 30 Farnsworth street, South Boston, was arrested last night, charged with embezzling funds of the Western Electric company. He was later released on bail. The complaint upon which Tracy was arrested charges that the theft of $29,907, but the actual amount missing is alleged to be much greater. The actual shortage in Tracy's accounts may be several thousands, for the accountants working over his books had not completed their work up to a late hour last night, and officials of the company declined to make any estimate of what the total loss may be.

PRES. WILSON UP EARLY

CORNISH, N. H., Aug. 7.—President Wilson got up early to play golf with Dr. Cary T. Grayson, his naval aid and physician and Prof. George Howe of the University of North Carolina, his nephew. They were out on the private links of F. A. Kennedy near here before 8 a. m.

The president entered today upon the third week of his present visit to the summer capital. No definite plans had been made for his return to Washington, but it is understood that he will leave one day next week.

CUT RATES ON LEASED WIRES

NEW YORK, Aug. 7.—H. S. Brooks, general commercial superintendent of the American Telephone & Telegraph Co. announced today that the company had cut by 50 per cent the night rates on leased press wires. This follows similar action last week by the Postal Telegraph Co.

TYNGSBORO

A good number of members from the Tyngsboro Grange went on the farm inspection excursion yesterday, in spite of the inclemency of the weather, and they all report a profitable and enjoyable trip.

The heavy rain of Wednesday did considerable damage to the crops, especially corn, many whole fields being laid low with little hope that they may wholly recover. Mrs. Clara Sivalow and Mrs. E. S. Perham are suffering from tonsillitis. Mrs. Merrill and a granddaughter from Gorham, Me., are visiting Ayers Butterfield.

I. T. U. DELEGATES AT LOS ANGELES

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Aug. 7.—Special trains bearing more than 500 delegates to the annual meeting of the International Typographical union, which convenes Monday, were due here today. The party of officers and delegates, who have been visiting the Panama-California exposition at San Diego, returned last night and today were prepared to begin the work of the coming session. Among those in attendance are Marsden G. Scott, New York, president; Hugo Miller, Indianapolis, second vice president, and John W. Hays, Indianapolis, secretary-treasurer.

GUARD GOV. WHITMAN AND FAMILY

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 7.—The threatening letters to Mrs. Whitman at the New York governor's summer home here unveils in part elaborate precautions which have been taken for Gov. Whitman's safety since Becker's electrocution. At least one prominent detective is looking out for the welfare of both the governor and his family here and it is learned from authentic sources that the use of a torpedo boat to bring him here was simply the government's part in the carefully laid preparations to give him a safe journey from Albany and that all through Massachusetts and Connecticut the route was carefully guarded.

Gov. Beekman is taking a personal hand in seeing that Rhode Island does its part. No harm is expected to be possible to the visiting governor but the strain on Mrs. Whitman's nerves is the feature giving the most anxiety.

EMMA GOLDMAN AND MGR. ARRESTED

PORTLAND, Ore., Aug. 7.—Emma Goldman, the anarchist, writer and lecturer, was out on bail today following her arrest here last night on a charge of circulating literature of an alleged illegal character but Benjamin Reitman, her manager, was still held in jail on the same charge.

found another complaint had been lodged against him during his absence and this forenoon pleaded not guilty to the assault and battery charge and also to a complaint alleging the non-support of his better half, whom he is said to have abused. The assault occurred in a house at 63 Brookings street about three weeks ago. Mrs. Carney claimed that during a slight altercation between herself and husband, the latter became angered and punched her on the face. For a time it was necessary to have her countenance covered with bandages and though the assault was committed over three weeks ago, the woman still carries two black eyes. Relative to the non-support complaint, Mrs. Carney claims she has not received any money from her husband since Easter, when he gave her $8 out of his weekly earnings.

When Carney testified he admitted striking his wife, but was indignant that she complained of him for failing to support her. He said that he gave her money within a week, but as he had been away until a day or two ago his honor did not credit this testimony. Carney said he is a stationary engineer capable of earning $15.50 a week. Judge Fisher did not believe he was in condition to go out and work now, however, and ordered him committed to jail for one month on the assault charge. The other case was continued until the expiration of this period for sentence.

Costly Standing Room

For assaulting Edmund A. Gilbert, a Bay State street railway conductor, during an argument as to where a passenger has a right to stand, William J. Welsh was required to pay a fine of $25. He pleaded guilty.

The sad part of the story is that William is to join the rank and file of the beneficiaries in two weeks and has no money with which to pay the fine. He was committed this morning, but will attempt to have friends gather the necessary money, so that his plans will not be delayed.

Conductor Gilbert left Merrimack square about 7 o'clock bound for North Chelmsford. The defendant boarded the car near the corner of Branch and Middlesex streets and as the seats were all filled was obliged to stand on the running board. When the conductor asked him to stand on the upper running board instead of the lower, it is said, Welsh objected and started to fight. He jumped on the conductor's back and after being pulled off by the motorman, tried it again. The conductor also used a little force in defending himself.

The defendant was on his way to work at the Fletcher Granite works in North Chelmsford, where he received $18 per week. He admitted the striking and only disputed the conductor's testimony about requesting him to stand on the upper step. Welsh claims the conductor called him hard names and insulted him, but this was denied by the complainant. The defendant told his honor he thought it would have been much fairer to have fought the battle out alongside of the tracks instead of haling him into court. This gave Judge Fisher the impression that Welsh was too willing to fight and a fine of $25 was imposed.

Primrose Hill Again

Ahmed and Allie Owad, residents of Primrose Hill, Draught, which has been given so much publicity in police court recently, played a mean, contemptible trick on Judge Fisher. Owad, a cooper, at 626 Middlesex street, on July 27 and in consequence each paid a $19 fine today. They pleaded guilty to assaulting the same keeper.

Daniel Donahue

Donahue, appearing for the complainant, stated that while Hermon was waiting on a customer the towels tumbled on his head and he was insulted him. The complainant hurried out, but much to his sorrow learned that he was wanted because the men held a grudge against him and had decided to get revenge on him. He claimed that the two men "beat up" the store proprietor and then went their way, but were soon brought into court on a warrant. They paid their fines in court this morning.

Had No Place to Go

John Gray, who hangs his hat wherever he works, but unfortunately is a farmer and has not been able to work recently on account of the rain and therefore has been deprived of a home, was before the court charged with trespassing on the land of Roswell S. Fox in Draught. He pleaded guilty and was asked to pay a fine of $10, but not having the money was committed to jail.

John, who originally came from New Hampshire, last worked in Woburn, but about two weeks ago was discharged and since has been roaming about these parts. He has been unable to find work because of the continued rain, he said, and has been spending his time loafing in the bed room of the police station, one charged with drunkenness and the other as a suspicious person. Last night John found himself without a home and so went to Mr. Fox's barn and slept in the hay. He was found early this morning.

NEW YORK DOCTOR DIES AT NASHUA

NASHUA, N. H., Aug. 7.—Dr. Arthur H. Hills, a New York physician, died today at the St. Joseph's hospital of Bright's disease. He was taken ill at the home of his brother at Hudson.

Dr. Hills leaves a widow, a daughter, Mrs. Sherwood Hard of Nyack, N. Y., three brothers and a sister.

DENIES CONNECTION WITH HUERTA

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7.—The state department today issued the following:

"The German ambassador has informed the state department that he denies formally the whole contents of the story of the Providence Journal about his alleged relations with Gen. Huerta, and desires that this statement be given to the press. As the department has no information on the subject, it regards this expression of the ambassador as satisfactory."

ing, however, and placed under arrest by the Draught constabulary. Mr. Fox said he did not want anything to do with the defendant and told him recently he would not give him work "if he were the last man on earth." That settled John's chances and the fine was imposed.

Went to Her Papa

There was considerable pathos about the court room when the case of Geo. Haddard, accused of non-support of his wife, was tried. The defendant was in the dock and when his wife appeared with two children, one about a year old and the other just able to walk, the older child toddled to her father and he stepped out of the dock and picked her up. With each holding a child they told their stories to the court, the wife claiming that she had not been given enough money to buy food for the children and the husband testifying he had given her every cent he earned. Judge Fisher did not desire to find the defendant guilty on the evidence and ordered the case continued for two weeks for investigation.

Baseball Pool Case

The cases of Joseph A. Dupont and George Brunelle, the two men charged with having in their possession baseball pool tickets with intent to sell, were called and continued until Aug. 16 at the request of Attorney William A. Hogan, who represents both defendants.

Jeremiah P. Sullivan and John Corrigan were complained of by Patrolman George Abbott for hanging around his beat in the vicinity of city hall and soliciting money from pedestrians. As each appeared to be suffering from the effects of rum, they were sent to the Lowell jail to sober off. Corrigan's time was set at 20 days, while Sullivan got off on 10 days.

To the State Farm

Despite the fact that Matthew Corrigan spent eight months of the past year in jail he has appeared in the local court four times for drunkenness. When brought in this morning a sentence to the state farm was imposed. Georgeanna Murphy, another fourth offender, pleaded for another chance for the sake of her children, but a two months' sentence to the Lowell jail was given. The case of Emil Sargent, non-support of wife, was continued until Sept. 4 so that Judge Enright, who heard part of the evidence last month, could dispose of it.

Bridge Repairs
The Lawrence street bridge across the Concord river is badly in need of repairs, and it is possible that a similar cement bridge will be constructed as was built over the canal in Moody street a few years ago. The bridge, however, is in bad shape and something will have to be done very soon. A couple of years ago the city engineer drew plans for the reconstruction of the bridge, but for certain reasons the plans were abandoned. The sidewalks over the Central bridge are also in need of repairs, while a number of other bridges in the city

WOMAN KILLED, DAUGHTER DYING

ST. JOHNSBURY, Vt., Aug. 7.—Mrs. Alice Morrill, aged 50, wife of John D. Morrill of Barret, was killed yesterday afternoon and her daughter, Miss Myrtle Morrill, aged 19, was probably fatally injured, when their horse ran away on West Hill.

The women were driving to this place and when they started down the hill the breaching of the harness broke, throwing the wagon against the horse.

Miss Morrill was driving and tried to turn the animal into a doorway, but her mother took the reins from her hands and kept to the road. Near the foot of the hill the wagon was overturned and both women thrown several feet, Mrs. Morrill striking on her head. Dr. W. B. Fitch was called and found her dead from a fractured skull.

Miss Morrill was taken into Joseph Beck's home, near by, and an examination showed that she had sustained two fractured ribs and many bruises. It is also feared she has a punctured lung. Her recovery is considered doubtful.

PERNICIOUS LIQUOR ADVERTISING

In the columns of many New England newspapers recently, large and costly advertisements have been published under the auspices of the Brewers' Association, setting forth the advantages of drinking beer and other intoxicants. For a longer period a somewhat similar series of advertisements has been running in the same section of the press, describing flagrantly and flippantly how the fathers of this country and the greatest men of all countries patronized some variety of the brew that was thus exploited. So cleverly are these advertisements worded, and so insidious is their appeal that the imbibing of "booze" is painted not only as an accomplishment but as a virtue.

The Sun regards this species of advertising as dangerous, insidious, poisonous and utterly unfit for the pages of a family newspaper. Such an influence on a family circle cannot be for good. It whispers into the ear of the growing boy and girl: "If it was proper for the great men of the past to drink and to approve of drinking, why is it not proper for us to drink and to approve of drinking?" The young do not readily see that social customs have changed and that public manners now demand higher standards. In other days, drinking was indeed a widespread social custom, and many profound deliberations were arrived at over strong concoctions, but it is no longer considered good form. Drinking even in moderation is now universally condemned and regarded as a vice while drinking to excess is looked upon as an unspeakable curse to the human race. It has cost the world more in money, health, crime and misery than anything else, and the growing sentiment of all nations is now against it.

The Sun has long refused to print such advertisements and for many years past nothing of the kind has been admitted to its pages. This stand of the Sun has meant an enormous loss of revenue, but as a matter of conscience those responsible for the decision decided that they could not print palliations of vice in a newspaper going into practically every home in this city. The advertisements published by other papers have been constantly and persistently offered to The Sun, not only at this office but through Boston and other agencies, but they have been invariably and emphatically turned down.

The Sun will continue to reject dangerous advertisements such as have appeared lately in the pages of many New England newspapers and by so doing stand strongly for principle regardless of the financial loss. We have no quarrel with the brewers who advertise intoxicating drink, the men who use it, or the papers which accept advertisements setting forth its advantages. Others may print such insidious and false inducements if they wish; others may sell beer and other intoxicants if they so choose and the voters are willing; others may drink, if they so foolishly decide, but The Sun cannot in conscience mitigate the evils of drinking by allowing the use of its columns for the advancement of liquor selling and liquor drinking. We refuse the use at any price of the columns of the powerful instrument at our command for the promulgation of vice. It may cost The Sun thousands of dollars annually, as it has already during the years that The Sun has refused such advertisements, but it is a matter of gratification to all concerned that, without such a source of revenue, The Sun has prospered consistently and has kept up a sturdy and growing circulation.

It must soon dawn on the entire country that advertisements such as The Sun refuses are against sound public policy and general morality. Though skillfully phrased and smoothly insidious, they are deeply dangerous and must in time be turned down by the decent section of the press everywhere as they are now turned down by The Sun. The great danger of these plausible and seductive advertisements is well illustrated by Pope's famous verse on the result of becoming familiar with any form of vice:

"Vice is a monster of so frightful mien,
As, to be hated, needs but to be seen;
Yet, seen too oft, familiar with her face,
We first endure, then pity, then embrace."

WHAT AFTER WARSAW?

In the greatest and most mighty sweep in all history, the Germans have been successful in their drive against Warsaw and the capital of Russian Poland is theirs, as is the country itself. So ominous was the danger to Russia and so dire were the possibilities that there was only a nominal defense, and the Russian commanders busied themselves with getting their armies away from the menace which threatened. The German offensive has been partially successful; had it been wholly successful, there would be no Russian army, to all intents and purposes.

The danger to Russia is not yet over, and a few days will show whether Germany will rest on its achievements on the east or pursue its original policy still further. Great enveloping movements are on foot north and south of the fallen capital, and it may be that the retreating Russian army will be overtaken and outwitted. The names of Von Mackensen, Von Hindenburg and Von Huelsow silence skepticism, and some military experts say that the Germans are striving to throw a ring around the armies of Grand Duke Nicholas, which are now retreating or have retreated to a new line further east. The Russian armies are still intact, but admittedly short of ammunition; the future therefore is in doubt.

Commentators on the situation have advanced many forecasts of compelling interest. Some say that the Germans will leave a comparatively small army in Poland to keep back the Russians who cannot come back in strength for some time and will throw millions of soldiers against the allied lines in the west. Others predict a great drive against Serbia to intimidate the wavering Balkan states and cut supplies of ammunition to the Dardanelles. Either Paris or Constantinople or Paris may be the objective of the next great German offensive, but whatever is done will be done quickly.

Time is on the side of the allies, and all the belligerents realize it. This may account for the apparent inactivity of the English and French troops in Belgium and France who kept up the deadlock while the Russians were being sorely driven in the east. Germany is still strong, and the allies wait for Germany to take the offensive. The spirit of all the nations is still high and the future is dark, even though success dangers of new and strong foes. Germany must be very much annoyed because of the neutrals, or because of the neutrals that speak right up when they think Germany is trampling on their toes.

With no neutrals of importance, how much pleasanter it would be for Great Britain! In its desire to starve out Germany it might hold up every cargo going to Germany and coming from there, and there would be no protests such as are now emanating from our state department. As things are, England finds itself obliged to weigh the possible consequences of detentions and prize court decisions on American opinion, and the demands and protests of the neutrals are as continuous as the attacks of the enemy. What bothersome things neutral nations are, to be sure!

For the world at large and for humanity, it is an excellent thing that in this war there are neutrals, for international law would be thrown out completely and there would be no right but that of might. Neutrals may not have been able to do a great deal to save for coping generations the fragments of law and principle that shine above the conflict, but they have registered many complaints and protests that must be heard when sanity returns to earth. It may be that in golden days to come, the feeble voice of the neutrals of today will have a greater influence than the guns that are thundering so loudly now on many a battlefield. May it be soon!

MERRIMACK RIVER

Col. Craighill now thinks the navigation of the Merrimack river worth $10,000,000 to the cities and towns along the channel. This does away with his previous contention that the returns may not justify the outlay. Surely a project that is worth so much is well worth while, and when plans for river development are worth while, the government should be interested. Boaters of the navigation plan from all parts of the Merrimack valley have gathered indisputable evidence, to prove that the scheme would benefit this region immensely, and both the feasibility and desirability of the project have been officially admitted. Boston is talking about the possible expenditure of $10,000,000 for a new terminal that would not affect Boston any more than the navigation of the Merrimack would improve Lowell, Lawrence, Haverhill, Newburyport and the smaller communities. Anything that is worth doing is worth agitating; let us keep up the good work of booming the plans for the navigation of the Merrimack.

THAT HOSPITAL SITE

It would be really interesting to know if the municipal council favors the so-called Gage lot on Seventh avenue for the erection of a hospital, or only as a hospital "site." It would seem that by the letter of the law, as called to our attention by the state board of health, this city is obliged to start definite plans by September 1. Some wise individuals in the city government and out may think that the selection of a site will cover the law. As for the erection of a hospital, well—there is time enough for that. The policy of putting things off as far as possible and making a bluff at taking them up when they can be put off no longer is a favorite policy at city hall. The municipal council has given us a site; when will they give us a hospital—and where will it be erected?

What Hortense Told Me

Hortense thinks if there ever was a time when military needed a pretty, well rounded leg it is today, for the bountiful effect has come back for hips and waist line and the lower part of the skirt is wide and billowing. There is not the slightest need of anyone being unbecomingly in this regard, since the legs are the easiest part of the body to keep in shape. Every ounce of superfluous flesh. Also practice the following exercises for 10 minutes daily.

Stand before a good sized square table, large enough so that your arms are spread out when you grasp both ends of one side with your hands. Rise up slowly, bend the knees until you are squatting on your heels, keeping only the toes on the ground meanwhile. Then rise and repeat.

The best single thing I ever accomplished to improve my appearance was to keep my arms straight and my shoulders straight into a pair of very straight ones, by following the advice of Hortense.

Stand before a mirror and stretch your hands out straight in front on a line with my shoulders, then, without bending the elbows, and bending my whole arms, stretch the shoulders as far back as I could, holding them there for a few moments, then slowly, gradually turning the palms outward, because I was eager so, until my hands fell at my sides.

It did it all slowly and without any strain, watching it in the glass as I did so, and the first trial almost complete. I had found the solution of my long problem.

To cure pimples and blackheads requires time and patience and one must be exceedingly careful in regard to diet. The face may be steamed and treated twice a week. Always apply cleansing cream to face and throat, and wipe it off thoroughly, before steaming. Then massage with the pimple cream for 10 minutes; wipe this off and apply the toilet water with a soft towel.

Pimple Lotion—Precipitate sulphur, one dram; spirits of camphor, one ounce; rose water, four ounces.
Pimple Cream—Anoline zinc, one and a quarter ounces; oil of sweet almonds, one and a quarter ounces; precipitate sulphur, one and a quarter ounces; oxide of zinc, five drams; violet extract, one dram.

Cleansing cream—Almond oil, four ounces; white wax, one ounce; white vasoline, one ounce; extract of violet, 10 drops.

Toilet water—Elderflower water, two ounces; distilled water, two ounces.

Vaseline or castor oil rubbed into the scalp every other night will remove dandruff, says Hortense. If you cannot get rid of it this way, try the sulphur treatment.

To an ounce of sulphur add a quart of soft water, and during intervals of a few days, agitate the mixture repeatedly. After the water has settled to the bottom of the receptacle use the clear liquid. Saturate the head with it every morning, and in a few weeks every trace of the dandruff will have disappeared.

The hair will become soft and glossy, and there will be no return of the old trouble. This remedy, however, will darken light hair.

To make your cheeks plump, says Hortense, rub fresh skin cream, of which the recipe is given below, into the skin with the following movements:

To treat the right cheek place the thumb of the left hand just beyond the corner of the mouth and rest the other fingers on the forehead, and make rotary movements upward and outward, beginning at the corner of the mouth and making three or four lines of rotation over the cheek. With the right hand then treat the left cheek.

Skin Food: Sweet oil of almonds, two ounces; rose water, one ounce; white wax, two drams; oil of sweet orange, one dram; spermaceti, two drams.

Half fill a saucepan with boiling water and stand a jam jar in it. Shred the wax and spermaceti into the jar and let it dissolve. Heat the almond oil and add it to the wax mixture. Add orange flower water and add a half teaspoon at a time, stirring the mixture quickly and lift the jar out of the water. Beat the mixture thoroughly. Heat and add the oil of sweet orange. Beat again, put in pots and cover with parchment.

To reduce your weight, Hortense says, all dainties and sweets must be given up and only coarse breads, like wheaten and entire wheat, may be eaten. In fruits only oranges, currants, sour cherries or apples may be eaten, and green vegetables in moderation. Salads are all right and a small amount of cornstarch soup.

Avoid drinking water with meals. Chocolates should be abandoned, and only black coffee is permitted. Black-baked milk is also a flesh reducer.

In order to gain weight, one must be in good health and free from all ailments. One should eat plenty of nourishing food and chew well every morsel taken. It is also necessary that one secure a great deal of sleep, and exercise in the fresh air. Drink milk if you can and take three raw eggs a day.

POSTAL SAVINGS BANK

Increase in Number of Deposits at Local Postoffice—Some Changes Recommended

The postal savings bank system is now in operation nearly four years, and during that space of time the system in Lowell, like that established in every postoffice throughout the country, has proven a great success.

There were 76 new accounts opened at the local office, which is situated in the lower left hand corridor of the postoffice during the month of July, and during the same month 53 accounts were closed, showing a net gain of 23 accounts. There were 415 deposits made during the same month with an amount of $18,411 while 175 withdrawals, amounting to $8265, showed a balance of $10,146 on the right side. This month there are 1100 open accounts with a total of approximately $162,000 on deposit.

The amount of patrons of the new banking system is increasing every day, and everything possible is done by the postmaster and his assistant clerks to furnish information which will be of benefit to the new depositors.

Object of Bank

The object of the postal savings system, which was established by authority of the acts of congress, approved June 25, 1911, was for the purpose of providing facilities for depositing savings at interest, with the security of the United States government for repayment. The faith of the United States is solemnly pledged to the payment of deposits made in postal savings depository offices, with accrued interest, which is 2 per cent, as provided by the postal savings act, and the amount deposited in the local office bears proof that the people of Lowell place implicit trust in the government handling their savings accounts.

Who May Deposit

An account may be opened and deposits made by any person of the age of 14 years or over in his or her name, or by a married woman in her own name and free from control or interference by her husband. This should surely appeal to some of the married ladies.

Deposits are accepted from individuals only, and an account can be opened in the name of any corporation, association, society, firm or partnership, or in the name of two or more persons jointly. Neither can an account be opened in the name of one person in trust for, or on behalf of another person or persons. A person may open an account at any postoffice, but no person may at the same time have more than one postal savings account at the same office or at different offices. All accounts shall be opened in person by the depositor or his authorized representative, and after opening an account the depositor may forward his deposits to the postoffice by registered mail or by money order, payable to the postmaster. No charge or fee is collected or required in connection with the opening of accounts or the deposit or withdrawal of moneys. When a person applies to open an account he is expected to be able to furnish the necessary information to enable the postmaster to fill out the application which the depositor will then be required to sign.

Deposits are evidenced by postal savings certificates issued in fixed denominations of $1, $2, $5, $10, $20, $50, $100, each bearing the name of the depositor, the number of his account, the date of issue, and the name of the depository office. The depositor is required to sign a duplicate of each certificate which the postmaster will retain. No account may be opened for less than $1, and no person is permitted to deposit more than $100 in any one calendar month or to have a total balance to his credit at any time of more than $500.

Statutory Restriction

This "statutory restriction," limiting the amount that may be deposited by one person in one calendar month to $100, and the maximum amount that any one depositor may have to his credit of $500 affects very seriously the postal savings business in this city, according to Postmaster John F. Meenan, who is taking a great interest in the perfecting of the system.

Almost daily the local office is compelled to decline to accept deposits in excess of $100, and thus thousands of dollars have been turned away. While it is true that some of this has eventually found its way into postal accounts, it is also quite true, perhaps, that some of it went in other directions.

Of the 55 account holders whose balances at the close of June 30, 1915, have reached the $500 maximum, it is certain that all of them would continue to add to their deposits were the particular restriction removed which prevents their so doing.

Nearly three-fifths of the total number of depositors were born in non-English speaking countries, and the value of service the system has rendered them is apparent.

dered this class cannot be over-estimated.

Confidence in System

The past two years have shown, according to the postmaster, that as this class becomes more familiar with the advantages and safeguards the system affords, they turn to it with confidence and satisfaction. It is a fact that many foreign people are given over to the unwise practice of carrying their hoardings around on their person, or secreting sums of money in unsafe places. They bring their savings to the local depository office, but in many cases, through the operation of the law of deposits, only a part can be accepted. They are thus compelled to hide such parts of their savings as are withheld from deposit. One instance where a part payment only was accepted was related to The Sun representative by Postmaster Meenan.

A peddler of common wares opened an account at the local office last May, and during May and June he made the maximum deposits allowed. Early in July he made a deposit of $34 and on the 27th day of the same month he called to make another deposit. On this occasion he had with him $120 which he wished to have credited to his account. The clerk explained that only $8 could be accepted at that time, but on the first of the month he could deposit $100. The peddler was much perturbed because he could not leave all his money in the postoffice where he was satisfied it would be safe, and finally he urged the clerk to accept the custody of his money until it could be included in his account.

This is typical of many occurrences at the local office, that argue for a change in the law that limits the amounts that may be received and held on deposit. In the instance just cited, the peddler is compelled to carry on his person a considerable amount of money or entrust it to some fellow countryman for safe keeping, with little or no guarantee of protection until the present "statutory restriction" permit of its acceptance as a postal savings deposit. The peddler could not be induced to patronize even temporarily a private bank. The foreigner was always more or less skeptical as to the safety of banks, and the Traders bank failure was the last straw.

Two murders recently occurred in this city as a result of the victims carrying large sums of money on their person, and this practice would not be so prevalent if this restriction were done away with.

Postmaster Meenan sums the whole thing up by stating that the restrictions are not calculated to produce the best possible results because they foster the savings habit to a limited degree only.

Increase the Limits

In the postmaster's judgment, the maximum amount that one depositor should be permitted to have to his credit should not be less than one thousand dollars, and the amount of a single deposit should be unlimited to this sum.

In all probability this disappointing feature of the deposit law will be repealed next year, and in the near future we will probably see a large, modern bank installed inside the confines of a new and larger postoffice.

The clerks at the local depository office who are giving all their time and attention to instruct people in the benefits to be derived by starting an account with the government are as follows: John F. Murphy, William H. Gilman, Patrick J. Kurein, William J. Burns, Albert H. Sparks and John E. Burns.

The following table shows the number of depositors, their birthplaces, amount of deposits and the number of $500 accounts on June 30, 1915:

Milady's Boudoir

Re Particular About Shoes

When the short skirt was accepted as an institution, women began to be more particular about their shoes. As they grew wiser and surer of themselves and their place in the world, they began to use their splendid sense in demanding the right shoes for their feet. That made the makers of shoes realize their best. They were more forced to make shoes that approached lines for women's wear as well as for men.

The present shoe has the long vamp and slender appearance which characterizes the best type of custom made shoes. The short vamp and the stubby toe are frowned on by the best dressers. The long, slender foot, like the long, tapering hand, has ever given the impression of aristocracy in the accepted meanings of the word.

Some may say there are more flat feet now than ever before, but it must be remembered that women are now using their feet as never before, and also women have learned to accept an old shiner and hobble about and suffer in silence. They are not afraid to speak when their feet trouble them, and try every sane means to better their condition.

Heels are the rule in all the good shoe shops for general wear. When one buys lace shoes and sandals there is more individual freedom of choice. But where one woman buys low heels for dancing, there are a million who wear shoes for general use.

Given the consciousness of good shoes and good gloves, and a woman can rise above the knowledge that her gown is not the best in style and appearance. Crown her with a modish and becoming hat and she can even forget the shortcomings of the rest of her clothes.

LOWELL MASS. SATURDAY AUGUST 7 1915

PRICE ONE CENT

THE SPELLBINDER

As a result of the bungling manner in which the present administration has handled the city's affairs, petitions are in circulation for a new charter, calling for a mayor and 15 aldermen, and they are being signed by men who helped to elect the present board of government.

Report says that there are already 500 signatures on the petitions, but 10 per cent of the vote cast in the last state election is required to get the matter before the people, and hence some 1300 names will be necessary to assure the petition a place on the ballot.

The petition asks the voters to accept "Plan B" as recommended to the legislature by the joint special committee on city charters.

Plan B calls for the election of a mayor who shall hold office for two years, and in cities having more than seven wards the city council shall consist of 15 members, of whom one shall be elected from each ward by and from the qualified voters of that ward, and the remaining members shall be elected by and from the qualified voters of the city. In cities having less than seven wards, the city council shall consist of 11 members. At the first election held after the adoption of Plan B the ward councillors shall be elected for one year and the councillors-at-large for two years, and after that all elections will be for terms of two years.

All heads of departments, and the school board officials appointed by the governor and the assessors, if elected by the people under Plan B, shall be appointed by the city council. The mayor may remove, with the approval of a majority of the city council, any official whom he has the power to appoint. The person so removed shall receive a copy of the reasons for his removal, and may, if he so desires, contest the removal before the city council, and may be represented by counsel.

The mayor shall receive for his services such salary as the city council by ordinance shall determine, not to exceed $2000 per year, and he shall receive no other compensation. Such salary shall not be increased nor diminished during the term for which he is elected. The city council may, by a two-thirds vote of all its members, taken by yeas and nays, establish a salary for its members not exceeding $500 each a year. Such salary may be reduced, but no increase therein shall be made to take effect during the year in which the increase is voted.

Plan B gives the mayor the power of veto and provides for passage over the mayor's veto by a two-thirds vote of the city council, but such veto shall not be taken for seven days after the return of the veto to the city council.

Where the Fault Lies

There is no need of a change in the charter, but there is a crying need of a change in the personnel of the city council which is attempting to administer the affairs of the city under it. The charter is all right, but the city council needs a change. Plan B has serious disadvantages. A single branch of 15 would mean all kinds of complications. The single board of five has been a pronounced success wherever it has been given a fair trial. In the case of Lowell the voters turned down the first administration because the idea was new to them, and elected an entirely new board. The new board immediately started out to meet popular approval by undoing everything in their power that the old board had done. Now they are taking up matters that they previously turned down and, in many cases, are following out the policies of the former administration. On financial matters of great importance this administration has been a flat failure, due entirely to the manner in which the members have handled such matters, and in no way due to any weakness of the charter itself. For none of the many big blunders that this administration has made can the charter be held responsible. But there are some voters, it would appear, who, dissatisfied with the administration, are looking for the best way to get rid of it, is to shift the charter, a mistaken idea. Shift the administration, but let the charter alone.

Another Vain Attempt

The latest talk about town is that the French people will shift from Dr. Mignault to Dr. Lamoureux for mayor this fall. But, strange to relate, the French people are not the only ones who are voting and deserting from among them, and the French-Americans who have been asked about it invariably have replied that in their opinion there is nothing to it, and that Dr. Lamoureux wouldn't be a candidate for mayor under such circumstances. Dr. Mignault will be the only French candidate for mayor. A rumor was about town that the agent John B. Hearn Achen would be a candidate, but it was not founded on fact. There's no way that Mayor Murphy can get around his promise to support Dr. Mignault this fall. If Dr. Lamoureux or some other candidate stepped into the field to replace Dr. Mignault, then the mayor could truthfully state that he promised to support Dr. Mignault, and not any French candidate who might be in the contest. But the doctor is going to stand pat. Will the mayor?

A prominent French-American has informed me that at a public meeting in C. M. A. hall, shortly after the mayor's election, his Honor made the statement that two years hence he would take off his coat for Dr. Mignault.

The Contagious Disease Hospital

The Courier-Citizen is well pleased at the selection of a site for the contagious disease hospital as announced by the municipal council, therefore why shouldn't everybody else be satisfied? Now that the municipal council has located the hospital as far away from Quality Hill as it is possible to locate it, within the city's limits, the Courier-Citizen is somewhat happy and even glad to see the council's decision. The council is a council composed of two years ago, when the hospital almost found a resting place within the sacred precincts of upper Belvidere.

Says the Courier-Citizen: "In the meantime the members of the municipal council who have had the courage to tackle this dangerous proposition deserve commendation."

Only a few days ago the Courier-Citizen published the following advertisement:

Citizen informed its readers that Dr. Simpson, representing the state board of health, had called upon Mayor Murphy to remind him that unless something was started within a month the city would be liable to a fine of $500. Some courage that! Nineteen months ago the municipal council was informed that it must construct and maintain a contagious disease hospital. From time to time it received pointed reminders from the state authorities of its obligation under the law, but still it "ducked." Finally, at the last moment, only four weeks away from a fine, and reminded by a state official in person, it finally announces the selection of a site, but only that, not a word about the nature or cost of the building that is to go upon that site.

And the Courier-Citizen compliments the members on their great courage in the matter. Suppose their courage had been even greater and they had decided to locate the hospital in Belvidere? Would the editor still commend their courage? Yes, like Kelly would.

Compacting Sites

Let us forget. The Seventh avenue site is surrounded by dwellings, while there was only one house near the Pillsbury site. The Seventh avenue site is figured out at a cost of about $13,000 as it stands. It will cost in the vicinity of $4000 to grade it properly and then it will have to be "sewered."

The Pillsbury site was graded and beautifully graded; it had its own water supply, and had drains and sewers. On it also was a large and finely equipped house and a fine barn, which could be utilized or realized upon, and the Pillsbury lot was to cost about $21,000. From all indications when it has all been figured out the Seventh avenue lot will be as expensive a proposition as the Pillsbury lot, but with none of the redeeming features of the latter estate.

Where to Find Cannon

For the enlightenment of the correspondent who recently wrote The Sun relative to the alleged absence of cannon from the parks of the city, I will state that I have since learned that there are five beds of them at the Reservoir park instead of two that were there last year. The beds are also two beds at Fells park, while others may be found at the Sixth street park and at Starbird street. Early in the year they had been at the front door and destroyed a large number of them and they were replaced by others. The water department parks, it might be added have never presented a more attractive appearance than they do this year.

Builders Mean Business

The members of the Builders Exchange composed of Lowell's best known architects and builders are best known to the municipal council on the high school matter for their resolute attempt to give the work of building the high school to out-of-town architects or contractors, and they figure that giving the plans to an out-of-town architect means the coming of out-of-town builders on the job. Where is the board of trade and its "trade in Lowell" slogan, on this important matter?

High School Land Damages

There has been so much talk of a varying nature at city hall relative to the amount of money to be paid to the property-owners in Kirk and Anne streets whose estates are to be taken for the new high school site, that the city council has decided to hold a public hearing on the matter, and they are to get some definite information from the powers at city hall. For the past week or more the municipal council has busied itself with discussions of plans, and conferences with architects, but nothing further has been said about the cost of the land to be taken. It may be that the members, with three of them to come before the public again for re-election, are going to postpone further action on the taking of the site until after the primaries, lest their awards cause trouble. Some of the property owners, judging from their talk have been led to believe that they are to receive more money than will be awarded to them when the property time comes, and these disappointed ones will make the usual protest. The most effective protest that can be made is that made at the polls.

Squaring Pawtucketville

Following closely upon the announcement that Pawtucketville is to have the contagious disease hospital comes the news that Pawtucketville is also to have a municipal band concert, and for want of a better place to hold it, the concert will take place in a vacant lot in Mammoth road near Fourth avenue, some 30 feet below the surface of the street. The music may have a soothing effect upon the impatient residents of that section, and it may mean that the band concert is going to extend into campaign days, the latter part of September and in the assignment of them about every section gets a concert, except poor old Waverlyville. Of course there's no politics in the simple matter of band concerts, and the fact that some of them are being held in vacant lots where no one had expected them, and perhaps didn't want them, has no political significance.

This idea of holding band concerts in every section of the city for the purpose of pleasing everybody is not a new one, but has been tried on several times. It has been found from experience that the greatest amount of

AUTO MYSTERIES

Boston Girl Unconscious — Police Officer Injured in Chase

BOSTON, Aug. 7.—The police of Boston are investigating two automobile-mysteries, which they believe may be connected with one another. Meanwhile Miss Minnie Driscoll of East Boston is unconscious at the Haymarket Square Relief station, suffering from a fracture of the skull and Policemen William Leary of the Back Bay station is being treated at the City hospital where he is suffering from multiple injuries.

Miss Driscoll was brought to the hospital today by Thos. A. Cunningham, twenty-eight, a Dorchester automobile man, who claims that she received her injury when she fell while alighting from his machine in Hingham.

Cunningham, who lives at No. 26 Pevenell street, Dorchester, is held at the Hanover street station pending a police investigation. About an hour before Cunningham rushed to the hospital with Miss Driscoll, Mounted Officer William R. Leary of the Back Bay station was taken to the City hospital, suffering from multiple injuries, received when he was thrown from his horse while chasing an automobile containing a woman who was screaming for help.

Leary was riding along Beacon street near Audubon road. A large covered touring car approached at break-neck speed. It contained a man and a woman. The latter was screaming for help. Leary ordered the driver to stop the machine, but his cries were unheeded. As he started to give chase, his horse tumbled on the slippery pavement, throwing him to the ground.

Captain Gallivan notified the Back Bay station, and as a squad of officers, under Sergeant Murphy, was leaving to go to his assistance, the patrolman's riderless horse poked his nose in the door of the station house.

After the Driscoll girl had been brought to the hospital the police were inclined to believe that the two mysteries might be connected. An investigation was immediately started along this line.

THE SPELLBINDER

The "best people on earth," the Elks, will hold their annual outing at the beautiful grounds of the Mount Auburns in Tyngsboro on next Tuesday, August 10. The plan for the big event are in the hands of a hustling committee, and the indications are that this year's event will be the most successful yet. Every little detail has been attended to and a program that generally cannot be beaten, has been arranged. There will be luncheon and a ball game between the Lowell boys and fast Nashua team will be one of the features. The fast men's race, always a big hit, has not been forgotten, and at the present time a large list of entrants has been secured. Several of the contestants are in training for some time and they are sure that they will show some of the "little fellows" a few points about running. A number of other events, too numerous to mention, are also in the program. On Saturday day, the Elks and all other sports to the grounds, will meet at the Elks' rooms on Middle street at 12:15 o'clock. A parade will then be held and at 12:30 the order to start will be given. The procession will march through the downtown streets and then to the depot where special trains will be boarded, to leave at 1:15 sharp for the grounds.
